Virginia State Police Say 'Bulk' Of Stolen Federal Money Found

EXPLOSION WRECKS HOME. Police have not yet determined the cause of an explosion which wrecked the Charleston, W. Va., home of Mrs. Jeanette Johnson, 40. Mrs. Johnson was hospitalized for treatment of burns and cuts. The blast shook the entire neighborhood.

Two Suspects In $160,000 Theft Nabbed

Secret Service Takes Over After Cache Is Discovered on Farm

WASHINGTON (AP)-Virginia State Police today reported they have recovered "the bulk" of the $160,000 stolen from the government's Bureau of Engraving in Washington. They said it was located in a metal tool box on a farm near Centreville, Va.

State troopers there said they did not know exactly how much of the money was recovered or whether any arrests had been made. They said the Secret Service in Washington would report further developments.

Secret Service headquarters here declined for the moment to discuss the case. It was learned, however, several agents were in Centreville.

Employe Suspected

Virginia officers said a Treasury employee was suspected of the unprecedented theft from the tightly guarded engraving building.

They said this employee had spent several thousand dollars of the money.

One trooper at Centreville said there were two suspects, both employees of the bureau, and described them as "people of color." Asked whether he meant they were Negroes, he replied they could be people of color without being Negroes.

The trooper said the farm where the money was found was owned by a relative of one of the suspects.

The theft was discovered yesterday and the Secret Service released the serial numbers of the bills last night.

Washington metropolitan police said a produce company reported this morning that a check of its cash register had turned up one of the bills.

The Bureau of Printing and Engraving comes under the jurisdiction of the Treasury Department.

Associate Told Police

Officers said an associate of the suspect, who knew of the theft, gave information to a State Police officer which led to recovery of most of the money.

The huge sum, in stacks of 20 dollar bills, was found on a farm in Loudon County and was whisked by Secret Service agents to Washington early today, they said.

Among other things, Virginia police reported, the suspects had bought a new Oldsmobile with the missing money.

Since the Secret Service took charge of the money and the case, the Virginia troopers were without definite information as to the amount recovered or developments in the wake of the recovery.

Secret Service headquarters declined to comment on the report by the Virginia troopers.

The implication appeared to be the Secret Service was still seeking one or more suspects in the case.

Quoted as 'Gun Toting'

The Evening Star quoted Virginia police as calling some of the suspects "gun-toting men" and as saying lives might be endangered in their roundup.

The missing money was in 8,000 crisp, new ready-to-spend $20 bills.

Somehow, someone sneaked it out of the bureau during the New Year's holiday period, leaving two packages stuffed with plain white paper where the money was supposed to be in a vault.

It's possible some of the missing money may seep into circulation. Here's how you can tell if one of the bills comes your way:

Each of them is a $20 Federal Reserve Bank of New York note. It bears a picture of Andrew Jackson. It belongs to the series 1950-A,

Eighth Army Girds For Korea Trouble

SEOUL (AP)—The 8th Army is getting set for "any eventuality" at midnight Jan. 22 when more than 20,000 anti-Communist prisoners are scheduled to be freed from neutral custody, it was learned tonight.

At midnight Jan. 22, all prisoners who have refused repatriation are to become civilians.

These eventualities reportedly include even an attack by South Korean army forces if anti-Red Chinese and North Korean prisoners are not freed according to the Korean armistice timetable.

Bitter Over Count

Even as the 8th Army prepared for the prisoner release, South Korea and the Communists—bitter foes—joined in bitter criticism of a head count of anti-Communist war prisoners by Indian troops. The U.N. Command has warmly endorsed the count.

American troops waiting south of the demilitarized zone were reported ready to handle a disorganized rush southward of thousands of prisoners if they should break out or become unruly after being released from the 55 compounds in which they are held.

Special Isolation

It also was learned that present plans call for the anti-Red prisoners to start moving southward out of the neutral zone just after midnight Jan. 22. The POWs will not be asked to wait until dawn.

Measures are being taken for special isolation of pro-Communist prisoners or agents moving southward with the prisoners. Loudspeakers along the roadways leading southward will tell them to "weed out the hostile among you."

North Koreans will be held temporarily in compounds north of Munsan, it was learned, while Chinese will be moved to Inchon to board ships for Formosa.

ROK Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai and North Korean Lt. Gen. Lee Sang Cho used almost the same language in condemning the head count.

But as Pyun told a news conference today, his motives and those of the Communists "are as far apart as two stars."

The Indian command made what it called a routine head count of 4,384 Chinese prisoners Thursday. While the count was under way, 135 asked to be returned to Communist China.

Charged Illegal

The Communists promptly branded the head count illegal—a word used today by Pyun.

"It is illegal and arbitrary—it is a criminal action," he said.

"Our government has come to the stage where we cannot be quiet."

He called the Indian guards "armed Communist explainers" who are forcing the prisoners to return to the Communists.

He said "it is outside my province" when asked what action

QUESTION GOUZENKO. Senator William Jenner (left) (R-Ind.), chairman of the Senate internal security subcommittee, and Sen. Prosperity Is Promised in Report to U.S.

Solution to Farmers' Price Trouble Pledged As One of First Steps

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Close associates say President Eisenhower is determined to solve the farm price problem as one of the first steps in carrying out his pledge of "constantly increasing prosperity for all."

In a radio-television report to the people last night, the President said his administration is using "every legitimate means available to the federal government" to maintain prosperity and will continue to do so as long as is necessary.

Keyed to Federal Aid

Asserting that his administration does not believe in a "boom-and-bust America" in which prosperity hinges on war or threats of war, he said the program he will lay before Congress in his State of the Union message Thursday will be keyed to federal help.

"It is a program that does not deal in pie-in-the-sky promises to all, nor bribes to a few, nor in threats to any," he declared. "It is a program inspired by zeal for the common good, dedicated to the welfare of every American family—whatever it means of livelihood may be or its social position or its ancestral strain or its religious affiliations."

In outlining the past year's accomplishments, he said groundwork has been laid to sustain basic prosperity "in the strong belief that the federal government should be prepared at all times—ready at a moment's notice—to use every proper means" toward that end.

Blast at Democrats

He said a program of sound planning and aggressive enterprise must be accompanied by "a faith which cannot be shaken by self-appointed peddlers of gloom and doom" in America's growth and progress.

This was an obvious thrust at some Democrats, like Senators Douglas of Illinois and Kerr of Oklahoma, who have said the country already is in a recesion and may be headed for a real depression.

Eisenhower claimed a halt in tobogganing farm prices as one of the accomplishments of his administration in its first year. Presumably he referred to an Agriculture Department report last week which said that after months of decline, average farm prices were up slightly in mid-December.

Members of Congress said the President had stressed in conferences on his program the need for action on the farm front.

In this connection, it was reported that he will recommend in a special message on the subject next Monday action to clear away mounting crop surpluses as a prelude to stabilizing farm prices. The government now has on hand about five billion dollars worth of farm products acquired in its price support program.

Bids for Support

In a bid for bipartisan support, the President invited Democratic as well as Republican leaders to a White House briefing today on the foreign relations and national defense aspects of his message.

Similar moves were under way in Congress, almost evenly divided among the two parties.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) announced that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will sit down with Secretary of State Dulles

Leslie Arends (Ill.); House Speaker Joseph Martin (Mass.); Rep. Leo Allen (Ill.), chairman of the House rules committee; and Rep. Daniel Reed (N.Y.), chairman of the House ways and means committee. Martin hailed the President's program for the new session of Congress as "dynamic" and "progressive."

Named Names

Senators Question Gouzenko 5 Hours

NEW YORK (AP)—Two senators said today Igor Gouzenko, who helped smash a Russian spy ring in Canada, had given them names and information usable for the internal security of the United States.

Sens. William E. Jenner (R-Ind) and Pat McCarran (D—Nev) told newsmen on returning from a trip to Canada that they questioned Gouzenko for more than five hours yesterday.

Gouzenko formerly was a code clerk for the Russians in Canada.

The senators declined to reveal where they had seen Gouzenko at what they described as a hearing. They said their mission "was accomplished and it was satisfactory."

Jenner and McCarran arrived at Pennsylvania Station here at 9:20 a. m. EST aboard the Washingtonian from Montreal.

They said the hearing was presided over by J. C. McRuer, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Ottawa.

Jenner, chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security, said he would study the transcript of the hearing and probably make a formal request to the Canadian government to release the information.

Asked if Gouzenko had mentioned names, Jenner said:

"Yes, names were mentioned, but under our agreement we cannot discuss it."

To a question as to whether he had "learned anything" from the interview, Jenner said:

"Yes, we did."

"What are you going to do with it?" he was asked.

"Use it for the internal protection of the United States," said Jenner.

U.S. and China Seek Way To Resume Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said today it has started "informal discussions" with the Chinese Communists to determine whether a formula for resuming Korean peace talks can be found.

These talks are being carried forward "through intermediaries" at Panmunjom, it said. The intermediaries were not identified.

Press Officer Henry Suydam, who disclosed this, said Special Ambassador Arthur Dean is ready to return to Korea on short notice if a renewal of talk on a peace conference can be arranged.

Suydam said representatives of the United States and its Korean War Allies discussed "various formulas" for resuming talks at a meeting at the State Department yesterday.

Returnee Says:

Reds Called Tune For Hostile POWs

TOKYO (AP)—An American soldier who returned to his countrymen after once rejecting them for communism said today the Red high command ordered him and 21 other Americans to break up Allied efforts to win them back.

Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor of Kermit, Tex., said the Reds slipped instructions through a Communist-staffed hospital near the neutral zone camp where the 22 pro-Red American POWs were held.

Ordered Not To Show

He said the Reds ordered the Americans not to come out for Allied explanations. The Americans never did show for the interviews.

Batchelor spoke at a crowded news conference in Tokyo Army Hospital.

The 22-year-old corporal, who left the North Camp early New Year's Day, said "I made a mistake" in once believing America was the aggressor in Korea.

However, he denied he had ever been an informer on fellow prisoners. He said he hoped he had not influenced anyone and said that if he had, "I am very sorry for it."

"To prove myself," he said, "I'd like to get some of the other prisoners back." He said that several weeks before he left "I wanted to try to get some other men out" but would not say why he failed.

Had Been Progressive

He said he had been a progressive before the truce was signed. He said he had begun to believe the United States was the aggressor after reading Red propaganda.

Meanwhile, his Japanese wife Kyoko worked on letters to three Americans still in the stockade near Panmunjom.

"Claude says my letters decided him to come back," Kyoko said, "and maybe would help him to get his friends to come back too."

Batchelor asked her not to reveal the names.

The Army said Batchelor probably would remain at the hospital as a patient about 15 days, but would be allowed to leave on pass. He and Kyoko are planning a second honeymoon.

Elected Leader

While in Camp 5 at Yyoktong, Batchelor said, he was vice president of a "daily life club set up to better our life there." He said not all of the men in the club were progressives and that he got "no special privileges."

"I had no power. I didn't exercise any leadership," he said.

Group Studies Tentative Draft Of City Charter

Commission Members Will Read Provisions, Suggest Improvements

A rough draft of city charter provisions previously approved was submitted to the city charter commission Monday night by Henry Mickley, chairman of the drafting committee.

The proposals submitted dealt with the city-manager form of government, legislative authority, members of council, length of terms, salaries, duties of officers, time of meetings, qualifications of the city manager, and amendments to the city charter.

Study Suggested

No action was taken on the proposed draft. Members discussed some parts of the submitted form. Chairman Walter Moore advised members to take the forms home for study during the week, and bring in written suggestions for changes at next Monday's meeting at the YMCA.

Before the proposed draft was submitted, Moore announced a meeting has been scheduled Wednesday night for the organization of a citizens committee to raise funds for expenses of the charter commission. Moore, Miss Edith Brown and Roy Waddell were named commission representatives to the meeting.

Others Invited

A number of civic organizations have been invited to send representatives.

The meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. at the YMCA, was called by Mrs. Francis Wanda who was appointed by the Marion League of Women Voters to organize a citi-

Marion Woman Killed, Another Hurt in Mishap

Mrs. Truman Hastings Dies in Auto-Truck Crash Near Urbana

A Marion woman was killed and another critically injured today in a traffic accident in Champaign County southeast of Urbana.

Killed instantly when the car she was driving skidded into the path of a truck was Mrs. Madeline A. Hastings, about 50, of 201 Blaine Ave.

Her companion in the car, Mrs Zula McCullough, 50, of 237 Clover Ave., was critically injured.

Car Skids on Snow

Patrolmen investigating the accident said the Hastings car skidded on the snow-covered highway into the path of a beer truck headed the opposite direction. The truck hit the car broadside on the driver's side.

Mrs. Hastings was crushed to death, remaining pinned in the car for nearly two hours before her body could be removed.

Mrs. McCullough, who is in critical condition in Springfield City Hospital, suffered severe head and chest injuries and a broken left hip, right wrist, left shoulder and left elbow.

Headed for Dayton

The accident occurred on State Route 4 just north of the Champaign-Clark County line at 8:45 this morning.

The two women were south bound on Route 4, headed for Dayton. The truck, driven by Everett Hughes, 49, of Xenia, was north-bound. Hughes was not injured, although his truck was dam-

Missing Men Placed on List Of Korea Dead

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today will identify 498 of 3,193 American soldiers and airmen who were officially declared dead at the end of 1953 after they had been listed as missing in Korea for at least one year.

The Army and Air Force started notifying next of kin last week and by Saturday all of the resumed dead will be identified publicly.

The first list of 10 Army officers and 398 enlisted men has been distributed for publication today at 6 p.m., EST.

The Army has prepared five more lists. The Air Force and the Marine Corps have one each. The last of these will be made public Friday.

The Army has changed the official status of 3,372 missing men, the Air Force of 256 and the Marine Corps of 228.

The Navy plans no such mass action, but has been acting in individual cases after the lapse of a year without information that the serviceman might still be alive.

Since the fighting ended last summer the Navy has listed as dead 34 of the 103 men who had been reported missing.

Senate Leaders Plan Study of Cut in Troops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass) said today top defense officials will be called "just as soon as possible" to give the Senate Armed Services Committee a detail briefing on new administration defense policies.

Saltonstall, chairman of the committee, voiced complete confidence in President Eisenhower's decision to withdraw two U. S. divisions from Korea.

That decision has been assailed by some Democrats, who planned to question the President about it at a White House session today.

But Sen. Stennis (D-Miss), a member of the Armed Services Committee not invited to that conference, said in a separate interview that a reported administration plan to reduce the size of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps was a move "in the right direction" and that he had no quarrel with the plan to reduce U.S. ground strength in Korea.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) last week demanded a thorough study by Saltonstall's committee of the troop withdrawal decision and all aspects of the administration's "new look" defense policies.

Saltonstall said he had had no

Issue in Congress

Tax Boost Starts New Social Security Dispute

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Your paycheck this week will be trimmed a little more to take care of your old age. And your boss will have to pay Uncle Sam a little more, too, to that same end. If he has a big payroll, it will be quite a bite.

These two facts—that individual paychecks are being cut and that businesses are being taxed more for the social security program—are back of a battle shaping up in Congress.

The issues: Should the social security program continue to be run, as a good insurance company is, by building up reserves for future payments, or should it become a pay-as-you-go-plan with the tax tailored to the amount actually being paid out in old age pensions?

Social security last year took 1½ per cent of the paychecks of some 47 million Americans, up to a maximum of $54 each. The boss paid in taxes 1½ per cent of the payroll, up to a maximum of $54 for each employe.

This week the amount withheld from your check goes to two per cent, with the maximum for the year set at $72. The same holds true for the boss' tax payment.

When social security started back in 1937, it took in a total of around 500 million dollars a year, and paid out five million dollars a year in old age and survivors benefits.

This year receipts are estimated to reach five billion dollars, and payments will top three billion dollars, with 2½ million persons drawing benefits.

Since receipts have always topped payments, the social security trust fund has risen steadily. This year the kitty is expected to reach 20 billion dollars. The funds are invested in U. S. government securities.

The reserve fund has been built up, as an insurance company's funds are, to take care of the years ahead when a much larger number of persons will be drawing a much larger total from it.

That is the reason why the amount being withheld from your paycheck is going up by a maximum of $18 this year. It will give the U. S. Treasury an additional 1¼ billion dollars to spend this year—since the Treasury spends the cash taken in and gives Treasury securities for it to the social security fund.

But many persons doubt if the social security taxes should continue to be regarded as insurance premiums, or an increase in savings.

They contend that the payments and withholdings should be looked upon as what they are—taxes and should be held down to the amount actually needed to make the benefit payments. They contend that the tax should be increased only as the number of persons getting pensions and the amount of those pensions increase.

President Eisenhower himself suggested at the last session of Congress that the raise in the tax this year be rescinded. Congress failed to act.

Field Examiners To Aid With Sales Tax Reports

Field examiners from the state department of taxation will be in the Marion County Courthouse on Jan. 28, 29 and 30 to assist vendors in filing their sales tax reports for the last six months of 1953.

These reports must be filed with the state treasurer by Jan. 31 to avoid a penalty, H. H. Hering, manager of the ninth tax district, reminded vendors today. Reports must be filed by vendors even if no sales were made during the period.

In filing returns, vendors are asked to bring a copy of their last or previous semi-annual report and a record of their stamp purchases for the last half of 1953.

Red Cross Chapter Plans Course for Home Care of Sick

Organization of a class in home care of the sick in mid-January was announced today by the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The class will open Monday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in the home service center of the Ohio Fuel Gas Company. The instructor will be Miss Clara Todaro, R. N., authorized Red Cross instructor. Any women wishing to obtain additional information regarding the course or wishing to enroll is asked to call Mrs. H. L. Arbogast, Red Cross Chairman of Home Care of the Sick, phone 2-6050, or the chapter office, 2-1653.

The course is designed to train women of any occupation to become useful assistants to their families, neighbors and community in time of illness or disaster.

Women who complete the seven two-hour lesson sessions will qualify themselves to recognize the causes and symptons of illness, to meet illness realistically and helpfully, to understand good nutrition, to meet home emergencies, to care for personal and family health, and to gain a better understanding of community health and home nursing procedures.

In addition to these personal benefits, the chapter stresses the importance of local women recognizing the responsibility of preparing themselves for the event of a mass emergency when professional help would not be as available as in normal times. In such an event, the very survival of their community, neighbors, and own family might well depend upon the training of which they now avail themselves, the Red Cross points out.

The class is being organized in cooperation with the Marion Adult Education program at Harding High School.

HEAD CRAWFORD SOCIETY

GALION — Three Galion doctors were chosen as officers of the Crawford County Medical Society when the group held its annual Yuletide party with the Ladies' Auxiliary at the Greenlawn, Route 30-N, last Wednesday night. The new officers, elected following a dinner, are: president, Dr. Martin M. Horowitz; vice president, Dr. Charles Griebling; secretary and treasurer, Dr. John Kidd.

Temperatures in an atomic bomb explosion go as high as 36 million degrees Fahrenheit.

Rolled Rib Roast With Rich Gravy

The head of the family will appreciate this easy to carve and economical rolled rib roast. You'll turn your meal into a feast when you serve it.

To prepare, season the roast and place it, fat side up, on a rack in an open, shallow pan. Roast at 325 degrees F. to the doneness you prefer.

The most accurate method for determining doneness is to use a meat thermometer. Insert it into the roast so that the bulb rests in the center of the roast. When the thermometer registers 140 degrees F., the roast is cooked to the rare stage; at 160 degrees F., it is medium done; when the thermometer reads 170 degrees F., the meat is well-done.

If you do not have a roast meat thermometer, allow the rolled rib roast to cook 30 minutes per pound for rare, 35 minutes per pound for medium and 40 minutes per pound for well-done. (When cooking a rib roast with bone in, reduce the time 10 minutes per pound.)

Rich brown gravy made from the beef drippings is a roast beef dinner must. To make the gravy, carefully skim off all but two to three tablespoons of the fat. Into the fat and drippings, stir two to three tablespoons flour and slowly add 1 to 1½ cups water. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Season to taste. (When the roast is cooked to the rare stage, there will be only a small amount of drippings for making gravy. In this case, use the smaller amount of fat, flour and liquid.)

Shortage of Food Facing India, Says Delaware Student

DELAWARE — Harold R. Rittenhouse, back from four months in India under the Internationa Farm Youths Exchange program, reports India is encountering many difficulties in her efforts to provide economic gains for her people.

Lack of food and unemployment are the two main problems facing the Indians. They are not starving, but many are undernourished. Lack of industrial development, despite coal and iron resources, have led to mass unemployment, he said.

Rittenhouse said that farmers in India have worked out the best ways to produce food themselves, although the United States has offered technical assistance. American machinery would be of little value on all except a few large farms.

Indian hospitality was outstanding, Rittenhouse said. He said the people with whom he visited went out of their way to make him comfortable.

He described the people as devoutly religious and dependent upon their faith to guide them in everyday activities.

GRANGE DANCE SLATED

A get-together of Marion County grange youths will be held Saturday night at the Morral Fire House. Free of charge to all young grange members in the county, the program will consist of round and square dancing. It is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

UHLER'S

American Aircraft Dominate Market

WASHINGTON, (INS)—A survey by the Aircraft Industries Association shows that American aircraft manufacturers dominate the world market in the production of commercial airliners.

The report said that U. S. aircraft manufacturers have built 90 percent of all airliners sold during the postwar years and now have orders for half a billion dollars worth of late model air transports.

Planes, official publication of Aircraft Industries Association, says the survey shows that U. S. manufacturers today have orders for 324 transports of 36 passenger or greater capacity. During the first sixth months of the year, 89 of the large airliners were delivered to American and foreign purchasers.

The demand for American-built airliners has reached such proportions that approximately 900 of the 1,000 new transport planes delivered to world airlines in the years 1946-52 were built in the United States, according to the International Civil Aviation Organization.

Air travel to all parts of the world now has grown to a point where an average of 123,000 persons, using the world airline fleet of some 4,000 aircaft, fly more than 67 million miles each day over scheduled routes — the equivalent of 2,680 times around the world.

Traffic law violators in Connecticut paid $883,439 in fines during 1952, or about $1 for every licensed driver in the state.

North Korea Lost

As the outcome of the fighting in Korea moves into historic perspective, two results have special meaning:

First, the North Koreans have been lost in the shuffle of momentous events they could not control. Latest reports from North Korea tell about Chinese peasants being shipped in by carload lots to take over the devastated territory.

It is estimated that not more than three out of eleven million North Koreans at the beginning of the war are left. The rest were killed or fled to South Korea while the tide of battle ebbed and flowed. Their places are being taken by Chinese.

Second, the Chinese who now control everything in North Korea are the occupying force. The United States and the United Nations must negotiate with them. There is every reason to believe, in the light of China's long record of survival, that the Chinese have come back to Korea to stay.

The Korean natives, including South Koreans, have a kindred feeling for the Chinese. They hate Russians, and they hate Japanese. But they trace their culture to the Chinese who first organized a Korean civilization and dominated Korea until forced to leave.

They have returned.

Whither Leadest They?

Democratic "leaders," it is reported in Washington dispatches, are sniffish about President Eisenhower's invitation to meet with him and Republican "leaders" to talk over his state-of-the-union message.

The Democrats are said to feel the President has waited too long to recognize their importance and will have to pay a penalty for not playing the political game to suit them.

Since there are some Republican leaders taking the same attitude—that Eisenhower will have to pay a penalty for not playing the political game to suit them either—it's a question of some importance as to who is following these leaders.

Their only conceivable importance as consultants of the President or as his opponents, if that is what they decide to be, is in terms of their followers.

They have no power to do either good or evil in the government unless they represent large numbers of United States citizens.

Before they ride off in too many directions in this age-old business of putting political pressure on the President they'd better look behind them to see if they have any followers.

Or they might take another look at the popular vote in the presidential election of 1952, to remind themselves that it was Dwight Eisenhower, not the politicians running for Congress, who swept the country.

Hitler to Adenauer

Time Magazine's choice of Konrad Adenauer as its "man of the year" comes just 15 years after its choice of Adolf Hitler.

Basis of the selection is the individual's impact on current history. From Hitler to Adenauer marks the time between two resurgences of German strength.

In 1938, Germany dominated Europe as its strongest nation. It used its domination under Hitler's evil genius to plan and execute history's most disastrous war, in which its own people and cities received cruel punishment.

But though defeated in battle, as they also had been defeated in World War I, the Germans were not defeated in spirit. In 1953 they again were the strongest society in Europe.

The impact of Adenauer on current history has come about through his promise to use Germany's new power for Europe's development instead of its destruction. He is a Christian leader with firm faith in a democratic philosophy.

Under Adenauer, Germany might not be the aggressor in World War III.

Under him and successors who believed in the same things, Germany could be the central core of a united Europe whose combined resources would balance the weight of the Soviet Union.

Jets at 12

At the close of the year-long celebration of the Wright brothers' development of engine-propelled flight in 1903, the president of the Aircraft Industries Association has revealed these significant facts:

During 1953, the industry produced more jet-engined than piston-engined planes;

It has produced its last piston-engined fighter plane;

It expects to produce its last piston-engined bomber in 1954.

Thus, only 50 years after the Wrights made aviation history at Kitty Hawk, a new era of flight has materialized.

The possibilities of flight with the kind of power they used in the Wrights' experiment have been exhausted. The same compulsion to develop aviation for defense which brought them power with possibilities that stagger even the resilient imaginations of plane designers.

To those of us who try to keep abreast of aviation on a catch-as-catch-can basis it's hard to believe, but the jet era which was on the horizon at the end of World War II already has reached its zenith.

Sane Economic Formula

By David Lawrence

Eisenhower Takes Waste From Employment Plan

More important than the broad outlines of policy which President Eisenhower will be proclaiming in his various messages this month are certain concrete programs already in operation which indicate the administration's fundamental attitude of mind toward the continued maintenance of an economic equilibrium in America.

The use of governmental power and funds to furnish full employment to the American people is now an established principle of social welfare.

It can be wrongly aplied, as it was under the Roosevelt-Truman administrations, for political purposes and on a discriminatory basis — or it can be rightly applied, as is being done by the Eisenhower administration, to meet conditions arising in all sections regardless of political factors and without subsidy.

BECAUSE the Eisenhower administration's plan to funnel defense contracts to some communities where there is unemployment was not sufficiently explained in various press dispatches when it was announced on November 4, the full significance of the new set-up is to a large extent still unknown and, indeed, has since brought criticisms based largely on an unfamiliarity with the facts.

Basically, the unemployment problem at present is a sotty affair. It has arisen in particular localities where layoffs have occurred rather than in whole regions.

Under the Truman regime, the custom was to call for bids in these surplus labor communities and endeavor to get a manufacturer there to match a low bid and, if he couldn't, the government would pay y a price differential to him.

This cost the taxpayers more money and constituted a subsidy.

Under the Eisenhower formula, however, there is no loss to the taxpayers because no differential in price is paid to anybody. A business man who goes after certain types of contracts gets the order if he comes up with the lowest price, and he gets the business irrespective of whether or not he is in a surplus labor area. He established the low bid for certain articles. Eighty per cent of the total contracts are allocated in that way, and no change in method for this portion of the defense program is contemplated.

THE REMAINING 20 per cent of the government's procurement needs, however, is set aside for producers in surplus labor areas only, but they must meet the lowest bid price for the same article as established in the non-surplus labor areas. The government does not, therefore, pay any price differential. It merely favors the contractor in the surplus labor area on a certain amount of production if he matches the low bid obtained elsewhere, or if he is tied with the lowest bidder in the first instance

There are at present eight major areas with labor surpluses—three in New England and five in the South. There are 22 smaller labor surplus areas — none in New England but a large proportion in Alabama, Kentucky, West Virginia, North Carolina.

The ciriticism that has come from the South is evidently based on an unfounded fear that the textile industries of New England which have been migrating southward now will be subsidized to stay north. This is not envisaged at all. Actually the New England members of Congress of both parties who are supporting the plan are far more interested in the tax amortization feature of the whole formula as it affects new industries, than in geeting contracts for textile mills.

UNDER EXISTING law the Defense Department can certify a tax amortization plan of five years for a defense plant that might not have much value to anybody once the article is manufactured in ample quantity for military purposes.

Hitherto the tax depreciation allowance has been figured on the basis of 60 per cent of the investment. Now, however, the Eisenhower administration will promise that an additional 15 or even 20 per cent of value may be used as a base for computing the depreciation if new defense plants are erected in surplus labor areas.

It is a method of inducing the prospective defense manufacturer to locate his new plants where there is surplus labor.

The thinking behind this is that when unemployment comes it is better to keep the workers employed where they have homes than to cause a general migration from a surplus labor area to a non-surplus area. It also reduces the unemployment insurance drain on the government.

The whole aproach is one that takes into account the principle of governmental intervention where unployment ocurs.

CERTAINLY it makes just as much sense to use government funds to get work done in communities of the United States that have people idle, as it does to spend billions to get American defense work done in Britain, France, Italy and other countries where economic distress since the close of World War II has been recognized as an emergency requiring apropriations by our Congress.

The philosophy of the Eisenhower formula as applied to the problems in this country recognizes the responsibility of the federal government to co-ordinate its huge program of procurement with actual economic conditions, but without using it as a form of political pap or as a means of extravagant spending.

It shows the Eisenhower administration certainly is just as much concerned with human problems as were its predecesors, but doesn't apply the principle on a favoritism basis with political considerations and extra spending as a governing rule.

Fool-Proof System for Predictors

By Raymond Moley

Now that the season is here when predictions are busting out all over, I shall make my modest contribution and then, in line with my well - established practice, warn everybody of the dangers and fallacies in making any predictions at all.

My predictions are:

1. There will be lots of business in 1954.
2. The rate of baby production will be normal — whatever normal may be.
3. The professors will continue to denounce McCarthy.
4. The campaign for the control of Congres will be hotly contested.
5. The Boston Red Sox will not win the pennant. This is based upon the fact that for a long time the BRS were regularly picked and did not win.

Now for an explanation of my technique. As you will see, I am safe on four of these. So I shall, in any event, be able to claim a rate of accuracy of 80 per cent.

As to the Red Sox, I really stick my neck out.

THEY WILL either win the pennant or they will not win the pennant. If they do not, I shall be the peerless predictor. If they do, I shall have that nice soft 80 per cent to fall back upon.

In case anyone who wants to adopt my system of peerless prognostication has a tender mentality and wants a softer 90 per cent accuracy to fall back upon, simply increase the number of predictions — i.e., add five sure things to my list.

A devastating attack not only on the pretensions of most predictions in the so - called social sciences but on the basic assumption that such discilines are sciences at all is contained in a recently published book which on my calendar is the book of the month, possibly of the year. It is "Social Problems and Scientism," by Professor A. H. Hobbs, of the University of Pennsylvania.

AMONG THE MANY books on the social studies that I have read over the years, this ranks near the top. As in the case of many books that represent conservative thinking these days, it found hard going before a publisher was willing to bring it out. As is true of many of the current sound books, it ultimately was accepted by a small publisher.

Professor Hobbs makes the most important point that most of the justifications for radical revisions of the social order, including socialistic planning are on the basis of half-baked predictions.

But when checked later, most such predictions are found to be erroneous. Even in economics, the most highly developed of the social studies, there has been plenty of error.

A very distinguished economist made a check of the various predictions of economists on the course of business and found them to be only 33 per cent correct.

This suggests that the simple method of guessing on the turn of a coin might be better, since that offers half a chance of being correct.

THE ESTIMATE by the expensive Bureau of Labor Statistics of 7,000,000 unemployed in 1949 is well remembered.

In the more immature social studies, such as sociology, the record is fantastic. Professor Hobbs points out several examples, of which the following are typical:

"Social scientists have predicted that increased education would reduce the divorce rate. We have the increased education, but the divorce rate went up instead of down. It has been repeatedly predicted that improvement in the standard of living would reduce the divorce rate. The standard went up, but so did the divorce rate . . . It has been predicted that education and improved standards of living would reduce delinquency. We have more education than ever before, higher standards of living than ever before — and more delinquency than ever before."

I cannot do better than to end this New Year's message with the suggestion that the Hobbs' book is an excellent way to gain measurable immunity against the claims of fraudulent prophets.

Winterscape

By TRUMAN TWILL

On a recent winter Sunday when the pale sun was playing hide and seek with the scudding clouds, it was plain once more that cold weather is the basic blessing of the North Temperate Zone and of all rural inhabitants.

Men need winter to balance summer. Where there is no balance there is no progress. It would be as tough to live easily on tree-ripened bananas as to live hard on frozen fish.

But in the Temperate Zone a man may have his bananas and his fish too. He has his summer and his winter, his grassy dells and his snow-choked ravines.

He has his day in the sun of summer and his day in the chill of winter. Each in its season is both appropriate and satisfactory. Yet of the two, the chill of winter is to be preferred in many respects.

There is no work in winter that can't wait.

We had gone out, the dogs and I, to cut the branches off a tree that had gone over in a summer storm. Once the branches are removed and piled up for burning at some later date, the trunk can be sawed into lengths and split for firewood.

The ax was sharp and the one-man crosscut had been freshly polished and oiled, to keep it from sticking. Inside of an hour, a woodpile had been started with the butts of the heavier branches.

Mittens were laid aside and the sun had outdistanced the clouds often enough to make a new windbreaker with a quilted lining seem uncomfortably warm. The ax bit deply and the saw snarled through the cuts.

There were no insects, no high grass or weeds to be trampled down, no undue perspiration. There were no other chores that cried to be done. It was a day when a weekend denizen of RFD could take a whole afternoon to cut up a blown-down tree with no intrinsic value and charge the time to mental research and physical exercise.

The dogs chased rabbits and tore stumps apart in search for mice until they tired of the sport, then settled down close to the fire which was going to consume the brush was too green to burn. It enough.

They were still curled up at 6 when it finally became obvious the brush was too gren to burn. It had long since been too dark for anything more strenuous than feeding the languishing blaze with dry twigs.

A three-quarters moon had set sail in the eastern sky while the last rays of the winter sun were fading on the southwestern horizon. The woods were still. The fields were still. The whole world was hushed in the presence of something too important to be mentioned in a whisper.

There are days in summer, especially June, when everything is just the way it should be. But they are infrequent. For perfect days, winter is to be preferred.

It is not uncommon for newcomers to RFD to discover the sweet uses of winter and be pleasantly surprised thereby. They go to the country in pursuit of summer but wind up as admirers of winter.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Marion County's pioneer politicians not only filled one office but many. George H. Busby who served as clerk of the courts from 1824 to 1844, also carried on in other county offices. During a part of the time he was clerk of courts he filled the office of recorder from 1824 to 1837, and in 1851 was elected to congress and served one term. In 1867 he was elected probate judge and served one term.

Daily Bible Thought

"Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions; according to thy mercy remember thou me for thy goodness sake. O Lord."—Ps. 25:7. If we turn from past sins with loathing and disgust God will surely blot our sins from the book of his remembrance.

Lost Sheep Reclaimed

By MARK DANA

Still another American, former prisoner of the Chinese Communists, who was among the original 23 Americans, 1 Briton and 327 Koreans refusing repatriation, has decided to return to his homeland. The jubilation expressed over him reminds of the Biblical reference to a shepherd who is greatly perturbed about one lost sheep, despite the 99 safe.

It is quite likely, as these changers-of-heart contend, that before many more weeks most or all of the Americans will decide to become U. S. citizens again rather than living out their days in Asia as Communists—even if the Chinese and other Reds over there should let them live. It is difficult on this side to perceive how anybody who has seen communistic practices at first hand could trust any promises. Original plans for the 23 Americans was to make them honored supranatural Communist guests and evangelists: more likely, slave labor camps and salt mines were in the cards.

Yet threats by the Reds, other alleged threats by dagger-carrying spokesman of the ex-prisoners themselves, and a fearful state of bewilderment and accumulated war unhappiness did obviously unbalance these former fighters against the Reds. The fatted-calf welcome they are getting, one by one, attests the real sympathy and solicitous understanding for them on this side of the Pacific.

It is likely they will become more staunch Americans henceforth due to their temptations, their waverings and their ultimate (one trusts) decisions to revert to their normal American status. It might make some civilian citizens more ardent, tending less to be casual and take things for granted, if they were to come to grips with just such a dilemma-choice and become reconverted to all the fine things our citizenship involves.

Even so, one may earnestly hope that the sympathy for this score of confused Americans will not go to their heads or spoil them, or give them an exaggerated status as heroes. One also may hope that as and if they come back, they on the other hand will not have to carry through their lives a stigma. Either a halo or a shadowy cloud would be inappropriate.

Friendship must be accompanied by virtue, and always lodged in great and generous minds.—Joseph Trapp.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

'54 Message to a Holdout in Korea

Listen, kid! You've chosen to march a strange road. And through strange towns. You did a lot of hiking as a youngster back home and in the Army. Some of it seemed tough. Maybe it didn't seem to lead anywhere. Now you are going to walk alone, friendless, suspected and watched. . .down the streets of foreign places. . .your day's performance prescribed and ordered . . .your every act blueprinted and labelled "Or else." You will walk among people whose every habit, custom and concept is different. . .you will look into shop windows holding nothing you want. . .you will labor without the right to choose a job. . .you will get papers you can't read and magazines without interest.

There will be food for which you can never develop a fondness. The movies and plays will be incomprehensible. There will be no place of worship which can sustain and cheer you in rough going. Then out of this nightmare, kid, will come a vision of the walk you could always take back home. . .the walk down an old familiar "glory road," every inch of it yours!. . .a hike down a street in the home town amid people who knew and understood you. . ."Red" Mooney, the corner cop with whom you could crack a joke. . .the boss to whom you could say, "Sez you!" . . .the gang of pals around the corner drugstore, seattlebutting about the baseball scores, the school dance and the girl friend.

On this Memory Lane you talk back to people. . .sound off loudly when you like. . needle a local bigwig. . .say what you want about anybody in the community. . .brush off a "Don't Sign". . .take the losing side in a debate. . .give the cop a horse-laugh in a traffic tangle. . .take your fun as you find it. . . be disturbed by no sudden footstep at your back! There will be things to look at in the store windows; baseball gloves, bird guns, boating gadgets, etc. . .the aroma of hot dogs, cheeseburgers and frankfurters and beans from Artie's Lunchroom. . .the clatter from the Acme Bowling alleys. . .the flashing lights on the movie house announcing a picture you can dig. . .the town padre stopping to remind you of the parish-hall dance Tuesday night. . .the voice of the girl you want to marry some day, no matter what her old man thinks.

Walking down the strange streets of a strange country you will at times be walking the old road of boyhood, remembering a Memorial Day parade. . .Old Glory whipping in the breeze. . . every boy you know filling the streets . . . (everybody but your mom who is busy at home with apple pies and hot biscuits.). . . "Stuffy," your crossbreed pooch, turning up somehow at your heels!. . .the words from a Memorial Day speaker on the village green coming again to you. . ."We hold these truths to be self evident: that all men are created equal; that they are created with certain inalienable rights; that among these rights are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.". . .(It's going to be tough, soldier. It's the thought of what's ahead that makes even those who lack patience with you, mumble a prayer for you.)

—:—

Gene Lockhart did our Yuletide story "Tinkle," beautifully on TV but amazed us by ignoring the routine courtesy of accrediting the authorship. . . The sponsor, which had been careful to mention itself every few minutes, made no mention of authorship except in a flashing credit line at the tail-end of the program. . . .We hope Somerset Maugham has restoratives on hand before he sees what Hollywood has done to his famous "Rain.".

Mail Order House Plan To Sell Cars Opposed by Ford

CHICAGO (AP)—The president of a Chicago mail order house said today his plan to sell 10,000 1954 Fords to military personnel at a 17 per cent discount is part of a sales program going back to 1949.

Charles Leggett, head of the National Procurement and Distributing Corp., said he also plans to offer similar discounts on Chevrolets, Mercurys, television sets and other items.

A Ford Motor Co. spokesman said in Detroit yesterday the company does not condone any arrangement" to sell the Fords at a discount.

Since 1949 the Chicago firm has sent out mimeographed bulletins to National Guardsmen, members of the armed forces and active reservists offering bargain prices on "everything except food and clothing."

Leggett said he has purchased Fords in prior years in lots of 200 and offered them under a similar sales program.

Baby Was Not Choking, Just Needed Burping

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (AP)—A baby sitter's frantic report that a baby was choking to death brought a fire truck, two police cars and a utility company emergency car to a home last night.

First in was Fire Capt. Eugene J. Monahan, a father. He took one look at the gasping infant, picked him up and burped him.

The baby sitter—a bachelor uncle—apologized profusely.

Death Claims Internationally Noted Countess

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Countess Dorothy di Frasso, internationally prominent movie and night club society figure whose realm of acquaintanceship embraced both the nobility and the underworld, is dead at 66.

Her body was found by film actor Clifton Webb yesterday in her roomette aboard a train en route here from Las Vegas, Nev. Apparently she died of heart disease.

Webb said he went to arouse her as the train neared Los Angeles. He found her lying on the berth, attired in a black sequined evening gown, a full-length mink coat, and a $100,000 diamond necklace.

On her fingers and in her luggage were other jewels worth $150,000, including a 15-carat diamond ring.

The countess, famous as a hostess and party goer, was returning from a round of holiday social events in the Nevada city. Although she made her home in a New York hotel, she spent much of her time in Hollywood and Europe. Her friendships ranged from Gary Cooper to Benjamin (Bugsy) Siegel, the late gang leader.

In Las Vegas she attended a number of parties, including one Sunday night with Marlene Dietrich and her daughter, Maria Riva. Webb, the Van Johnsons and others.

Friends said she became momentarily ill Sunday, and when Tom Douglas, Beverly Hills interior decorator, invited her to be his house guest upon their return here, she told him:

"I feel it's an awful imposition to stay at your house I think I'm going to die."

1953 Driest in 19 Years

Water Shortage Still Big Worry to Many in Ohio

By ROBERT L. SHAFFER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The biggest problem to many Ohioans during 1953 was neither the cold war or Communists in government but simply where to get enough water.

And the problem is still with us.

Ted Pierce, Weather Bureau chief at Columbus, says the rainfall deficit for 1953 amounted to 9.46 inches here. The Columbus average generally is close to the average for the entire state. Normal rainfall for one year is 37.88 inches. Columbus got 28.42 inches.

In the next 30 days, says Pierce, normal precipitation should bring a little more than 3 inches. But with the ground as dry as it is Pierce says he doesn't think anything less than 4 inches will begin to recharge the low water reserves.

The year 1953 was not the driest in history. The lowest annual rainfall ever recorded here was 21.60 inches in 1930, and there were 4 other years with less rainfall than there was last year: 1901 with 26.53; 1903, 28.14; 1925, 26.87, and 1934, 22.03.

But the great increase in industrial and residential use of water since the last dry spell has exaggerated the effects of the recent drought, which dates back to the fall of 1952.

Dr. John C. Porterfield, state health director, says the water level in 1953 was at an extremely low level.

One thing the drought has done, Dr. Porterfield says, is to give "a prety strong warning" of what could happen in the future. Some persons look for increased population and industry to use twice as much water in 1975, the health director remarked.

"If we're in this bad shape now, you can imagine what shape we'll be in in 1975," Dr. Porterfield said.

Asked to comment on the effects of the drought, Dr. Porterfield said the bad odors from polluted streams produced the most obvious effects.

The bed smells brought pollution to the attention of some people who had considered streams in their areas pure.

At Canal Fulton on the Tuscarawas River, fumes from industrial waste have turned white house paint dark.

Dr. Porterfield commented that the increased concentration of poluting matter as a result of the drought was general throughout most of the state.

The response from civic leaders resulted in plans for or construction of about 31 million dollars in treatment facilities for sewage and industrial waste. By 1955 Dr. Porterfield expects this figure to double.

C. A. Gehrig, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, says he has about 20 applications on hand from farmers seeking to take advantage of federal disaster loans. The low-interest loans are available to farmers in 40 southern Ohio counties. The loan program was set up last month after state officials appealed to the Department of Agriculture for drought aid.

Gehrig said many of the loans are for development of ponds and other water supply elements. Others are for money to buy livestock feed.

Gehrig said there were "some things yet to be ironed out" on the loans, and that final approval will come from Administrator Robert D. McLeish in Washington.

Extension agronomists at Ohio State University consider the drought situation serious enough to recommend emergency measures for farm planting this year.

Earl Jones, Agronomist for the northeast section of the state, and George Gist, for the southeast section, are recommending Sudan grass for emergency summer and fall pasture and soy beans for emergency hay crops.

But they say even the Sudan grass and soy beans may not grow if the state doesn't get adequate rain this spring.

The agronomists say many established meadows will not come through the winter. Meadows that were overgrazed last fall because of the drought will suffer damage from winter weather which causes the soil to heave, lossening the roots of legumes and grasses.

Whether or not the wheat planted last fall comes through depends on how much rain falls between now and spring.

Wall Paper Firm Appoints Manager

Richard Harold of Spencer, W. Va., assumed duties today as manager of The Martin Rosenberger Wall Paper Co. store at 152 S. Main St., it was announced by Homer Comer, district supervisor for the company.

Harold formerly was assistant manager of a Rosenberger company store at Ashland, Ky., for six months. He replaces Mrs. Herschel Murray, former manager who retired and now resides in Russells Point, O. Mrs. Bess Kraner of Marion, manager of the store for a number of years before her retirement, has been acting as temporary manager of the store for the past three months.

Harold, who now makes his home in Marion, is expected to be joined here in the near future by his wife and small child. They are now living in Spencer.

difficulties are ironed out she said and emphasized the need of people bringing "little problems" to the case worker before they become "big ones."

Miss Ruth Kramer, Girl Scout Commissioner, in her report pointed to the expansion of Girl Scout activities in the organization of the Marion-Morrow County organization. The organization has grown from an enrollment of 885 in 1952 to 1,223 in the year just closed. The program includes camping activities and community and civic services.

MOVING INTO THE new YMCA building highlighted the year for that organization, E. G. Siefert, a member of the YMCA board reported. He pointed out the broader program offered the community with the facilities of the new home and stated that programs would expand as time advances. Figures show that some 1,600 boys, girls and adults are served through the present set-up.

Captain Mary Nisiewicz cited specific cases in which the Salvation Army carries on its work and expressed her appreciation to the support given the organization by the United Appeals, the foundation and the community.

The financial report for the year was given by Earl W. Manter of the firm of Smoot and Roush, accountants.

FRED HANOVER, executive secretary of the foundation, expressed his appreciation to the various organizations for their cooperation and support and the volunteer services given by them thoughout the year.

Harold Fralich, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate which was unanimously elected: L. Otis Porter, Miss Adaline Roberts, Mrs. Lillian Graff, Paul Snider, J. E Oliphant, Robert G. Haldeman, Ellis Oiler, Ralph Howard, Miss Edna Dutton, Norval Foreman, Dr. Neil Price and Delmar Dulin. Texas Burglars Display Taste for High Living HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Burglars took $100 in cash and a $2,000 check from the home of Joe H. Russell, an oil firm executive. They also drank a fifth of whisky and a bottle of champagne.

"I hope it makes them sick," Mrs. Russell said when she discovered the loss of the nine-year-old champagne.

749 Accidents Investigated by Patrol in 1953

Mishaps Result in 32 Deaths, 441 Injuries; Arrests Total 2,576

State highway patrolmen from the Marion post investigated 749 accidents during 1953. This was revealed today by Cpl. D. M. DeWalt, officer in charge of the post, who made the annual report on activities of patrolmen in the area.

More than one-third of the accidents resulted in someone being injured. There were a total of 263 accidents during the year in which someone was hurt. In each of those accidents, an average of slightly under two persons, were injured. A total of 441 persons were placed on the injured list.

There were 24 fatal accidents in the year in which 32 persons were killed.

On the enforcement side, 2,576 motorists were arrested. Of these, nine were for felonies. Written warnings for minor offenses, equipment defects, and registration violations were handed out to 6,866 persons.

On the post itself, 8,174 telephone calls were handled. This figure included both incoming and outgoing calls. Persons who came into the post made 3,407 personal calls.

Eight stolen vehicles, including a fire truck taken in an escape attempt from the Marion Training School, were recovered by patrolmen. Value of the vehicles was placed at $17,530.

Cpl. DeWalt also gave a report of December activities of the patrol. Last month 55 accidents were investigated. Of those, 18 were personal injury accidents. There were 30 persons classed as injured by patrolmen. No fatalities were recorded during the month.

Arrests totaled 197. In addition, 431 written warnings were issued. There were 774 telephone calls reported and 314 personal calls made from the post.

Hamilton Without Mayor Following Council Stalemate

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The seven members of City Council stalemated over the selection of a new mayor last night and the city was without a regular mayor today.

Herbert Mick, an independent in city politics, refused to vote for what he said were "partisan nominees for mayor."

He voted for himself on two roll calls, leaving the vote deadlocked 3-3 between Arthur Fiehrer, a member of the Forward Hamilton group, and Bernard Kirsch Jr., a Labor candidate.

It was the first time since Hamilton adopted the charter form of government more than 25 years ago that such a deadlock had occurred with all councilmen present. Under the system, the mayor is selected from council members.

Edward Beckett, councilman and CIO leader, was named temporary mayor.

Batchelor said the pro-Red Americans elected him as their leader and, until the day he left, "I still held the job as chief representative."

It was when he reached the neutral zone stockade, he said, that he began to realize his mistake—he got more mail than he had ever received at any time in captivity. He saw the newspaper put out by the neutral custodians and noticed "worsening conditions in the camp" but declined to give details.

Asked if he felt he had embarrassed the American people, he replied: "Now I do."

B90252001A to B90256000A.

Chief U. E. Baughman of the U.S. Secret Service made public those serial numbers last night even before his agents began questioning the engraving bureau employes who may have had access to the rooms where the money was packaged and—supposedly—started on its way to a huge burglar proof vault.

Light Weight Noted

Yesterday morning when the plant reopened after the New Year's weekend two money packages in the vault turned out to be suspiciously light in weight.

Alarms sounded, and the paper-wraped packages, sealed with official labels bearing the proper serial numbers, were found to contain nothing more than money - sized white paper.

Henry J. Holtzclaw, associated director of the bureau, said it certainly looked as if somebody — presumably an employe — had walked off with the $160,000, quite likely disguising it as a Christmas present.

Accident-Free String Broken

2 Minor Collisions Reported by Police

Two minor traffic accidents in Marion yesterday broke a string of three accident-free days in the city and the county. Last previous accident in the city occurred about 5 p.m. Jan. 1. The state highway patrol and the Marion County sheriff's office reported at 9 a.m. today there had been no accidents on county highways for 82 hours.

The two accidents in the city resulted in only slight damage to two of the four cars involved. At 3:25 p.m. yesterday cars driven by James B. Shifflett, 23, of 148 Canby Ct. and Carl E. Neville, 65, of Marion collided at W. Center and Campbell Sts. Both were eastbound. The right front fender of Neville's car was damaged, police said.

The left rear fender of a car parked in front of 294 Leader St. owned by Harold VanGorden of 152 Clover Ave. was damaged when struck by a car which was backing south on Leader St. and driven by Robert Paul Taylor, 16, of near Marion.

aged in the front end. The automobile was demolished.

The roads in the area were slippery with a coating of snow. Nearly one and one-half inches fell there this morning.

Mrs. Hastings' body was taken to the Davis-Byers Funeral Home in Mechanicsburg.

Mrs. Hastings was the wife of Truman W. Hastings of 201 Blaine Ave., salesman for a rubber company. Surviving with him are a son who is in junior high school in Marion and other children who live elsewhere.

Husband of Mrs. McCullough is John A. McCullough of 273 Clover Ave. The family here includes two married daughters.

Both women were employed as makeup demonstrators for a cosmetics firm and were headed for Dayton in connection with their business.

zens committee. The charter commission had originally requested the League to raise the funds, but because of national policy which does not permit the League to solicit money for other organizations, Mrs. Wanda was appointed to form the citizens committee. The meeting is open to the public.

Commission members also agreed that each would be responsible for study of the charters of at least two cities.

Will Write Officials

In addition, members were urged by Moore to write to some official in his assigned cities to try to learn what success each has had with the charter, and what improvements could be made.

In the discussion of Mickley's proposed draft, members agreed the charter would consist of sections running consecutively, rather than be divided into articles and sections, as are the constitutions of the United States and the state of Ohio.

They agreed that by eliminating the article numbers, reference could be made to a section of the charter more easily.

Next week, members will discuss in detail the proposed draft of the charter and make corrections, additions, and alterations where they deem them advisable. The result of this will be the tentative draft of the charter, which will still be subject to revision before becoming final.

Ike

Thursday afternoon for a secret review of the world situation.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) announced Defense Department officials will brief the Senate Armed Services Committee "just as soon as possible" on details of the administration's new defense program.

In one late change in his speech last night, Eisenhower apparently sought to lay stress on actions already taken to ward off an economic decline, including a program to funnel some defense work into areas where there is large unemployment.

As distributed by the White House, the President's text had him giving assurance that "every legitimate means available to the federal government that can be used to sustain . . . prosperity for this purpose—will be used—if necessary."

Text Revised

Later, the text was revised and the President changed the wording slightly again in delivering it to say that every such means "is being used and will continue to be used as necessary."

The President expressed confidence that the program he will request of the session of Congress which opens tomorrow will meet with the approval of the people. He said he hoped it would enlist support in both parties because of "its purpose of promoting the welfare of the people."

Observing that no group of Americans can prosper unless all Americans prosper, he cautioned against division into factions and hostile groups.

"We believe that the slum, the out-dated highway, the poor school system—the deficiencies in health protection, the loss of a job and the fear of poverty in old age—in fact any real injustice in the business of living—penalizes all of us," he declared.

Reaction in Congress

"And this administration is committed to help you prevent them."

Reaction in Congress to his speech was generally favorable, but Sen Holland (D-Fla) commented that Eisenhower "sounds like he is committing himself to the welfare state."

"I hope his specific messages to Congress prove that is not true," Holland added.

However, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said it was "very good to know that the administration has adopted what has always been a Democratic policy—the belief that our people need not suffer from a 'boom and bust America.'"

Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) said Eisenhower "apparently is fearful of a business recession, and he added: "Unfortunately, a recession is under way due to deliberate Republican policies. We Democrats warned, but the big banker control of this administration failed to heed."

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee said he thinks the President will promote peace and prosperity."

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee predicted that a majority of Democrats will "suport a large portion of the program."

On that score, Sen. Sparkman of Alabama, the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said that he believes his party members will back any "reasonable" program the President suggests.

"We certainly will help him expand social security coverage, support any move to build up more vigorous foreign trade and join him in any economies that can be effected without impairing our security," Sparkman said.

MAN FINED FOR LOITERING

A Washington, D. C. man arrested in Marion for the third time on charges of loitering was fined $25 today in Municipal Court. Raymond W. Johnson, 44, was arrested at the Union Depot at 6:43 p.m. yesterday by Erie Railroad police.

Senator Blasts High Spending By McCarthy

Ellender Wants Budget Cut; Probers To Air Waste and Corruption

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Ellender (D-La) said today he will appeal to the Senate to "cut down to size" the spending budget of Sen. McCarthy's permanent investigations subcommittee.

Simultaneously, four newspapers reported that the Eisenhower administration has been urging McCarthy (R-Wis) to concentrate on investigating waste and corruption, leaving searches for subversives primarily to others, and that McCarthy is said to have agreed. Accounts to that effect were carried by the New York Times and Herald Tribune, the Washington Post and the Baltimore Sun.

Switch Urged

The Post quoted administration leaders it did not name as saying McCarthy had been urged to give "greater attention to legislative needs, directing his investigations more at waste, inefficiency and corruption—and leaving most of the Red hunting to the group created to do that—the Senate internal security subcommittee."

"McCarthy reportedly has indicated he will follow this line, but how far he will follow it is unknown . . .

"At the beginning of the last session of Congress, it should be recalled, there was also a series of moves aimed at curbing McCarthy's activities. None of them materialized."

Not Prime Purpose

McCarthy, out of the city, was not immediately available for comment. He said last week "digging out communism" was not the "primary purpose" of his subcommittee, and that it has been careful to check with the Senate internal security subcommittee to avoid duplication.

"If in our investigations we find subversive elements in government which would prevent the government from operating properly, and no other congressional group is investigating, then we go ahead," he said.

The Wisconsin senator has said he will ask the Senate to increase, by an unspecified amount, his committee's $20,000 budget for 1953. He said he wanted to expand the investigative staff. Recently he announced he was broadening his activities to take up the handling of some federal tax cases.

Korea

One high South Korean official said earlier the government was prepared to use force if necessary to halt a further count. However, most U. N. officials called the threat merely another move in South Korea's war of nerves against the Indian command.

To Check Rosters

The Indians said the head count was made to check its prisoner rosters. And the U. N. Command gave the count its full blessing, saying it is entirely in accordance with the U. N. principle of free choice for prisoners if any of them ask repatriation as a byproduct.

Observers here said the Reds appear to feel that any de facto screening, even though some prisoners ask to return, undercuts their contention that POW interviews which ended Dec. 23 should be extended. The Reds also contend that all prisoners should be kept in neutral custody until a peace conference decides their fate.

There was no official reaction from the Indian command to Pyun's statement but some officers said privately, "It is just talk. And I suppose Pyun is looking for a sensational headline."

advance indication of the troop decision, but he added:

"I believe the decision was in line with what President Eisenhower has said right along. Now that the fighting in Korea is over, some of the troops that we have been keeping there can be reduced."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), chairman of a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on Far Eastern matters, said he understood the Joint Chiefs of Staff were convinced after full study there was "absolutely no risk" involved in withdrawing the two divisions.

No Big Change

We will be eminently as well prepared there, if trouble breaks out, as we are now with the extra manpower," Smith said in an interview, adding that the decision represents "no fundamental change" in this country's basic position.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Secretary of Defense Wilson are among the defense officials who will be called before the Armed Services Committee, possibly next week, Saltonstall said.

Lose Battle in Courts

Texas Wives Seek Help Of Congress in Tax Fight

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Downed but not downhearted, the Marshall housewives are going to take their tax fight to Congress

They never did want to collect social security taxes on the wages of their household servants—and they never did.

Now the U. S. Supreme Court, in a decision yesterday, said they had to do it. Two lower courts had said they had to do it, and the Supreme Court refused to hear their appeal.

The women said the tax wasn't constitutional. And through all the rebellion that started almost three years ago they have waited in their homes while internal revenue agents went into downtown banks to take the taxes due from their bank accounts.

"Where else can we go now?" asked Mrs. Carolyn M. Abney, spokesman for the group of 14 housewives and in whose name the suit was filed.

"We have no further recourse in the courts.

"But the American people have a recourse by protesting to Congress who wrote these things. After all, we elected those congressmen."

Mrs. Abney said she and the other rebelling housewives had received "thousands of letters" of support in the 2½ years of their fight. She asked these people to write their Congressmen now to get the law changed.

"We haven't done anything selfish," Mrs. Abney said. "We don't want jobs; we're housewives. We feel the home is the bulwark of our system. When socialism came marching into our kitchen, it was time for us to do something.

"It's not that $12.57—it's a matter of principle involved, not property. And that principle is personal liberty and individual freedom."

Mrs. Abney filed suit to recover $12.57 taken from her bank account one quarter for the social security payments on her servant. She said the government had taken forty-odd dollars from her in all.

Federal officials said that in mid-1951 a toal of 511,288 American housewives had filed the special tax returns and that by February, 1952, the total had jumped to more than 700,000.

Claims Initiative Gained

Ike Says Foreign Policy Now 'Strong, Consistent'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, in his report to the nation last night, claimed a "strong and consistent policy has been developed toward gaining and retaining the initiative in foreign affairs."

This echoed recent statements by Secretary of State Dulles that Russia now is on the "diplomatic defensive" and the free world has the "dipplomatic and moral initiative."

That Eisenhower seized the initiative and put the Russians on the defensive near the end of the year is indisputable. There is less positive evidence to support a claim the policy of initiative was consistently successful.

When he said, right after taking office, that the 7th Fleet off Formosa would let Chiang Kai-shek attack the Communist Chinese mainland, that may have looked like initiative.

Nothing happened. Chiang, still on Formosa, has not attacked the mainland.

When Eisenhower challenged the Soviets last April 16 to show by deeds that they wanted peace, he no doubt meant that to put the Russians on the defensive by telling them to put up or shut up.

This wait-and-see attitude wasn't sufficient initiative for Sir Winston Churchill, who suggested a meeting between himself, Eisenhower, French Premier Laniel and Soviet Premier Malenkov.

Eisenhower declined, later settled for a meeting in Bermuda between himself, Churchill and Laniel.

Meanwhile, Dulles and the French and British foreign ministers invited Russian Foreign Minister Molotov to meet with them

This put the Russians on the defensive. They stalled for months in a windy exchanges of notes, until they appeared as not wanting to talk about peace.

Toward year's end they finally agreed to meet Jan. 25 Only an optimist expects anything to come of it, but at least the West can take credit for trying.

Eisenhower also embarrassed the Russians last summer when he shipped food to East Germans, who dared reprisals to come for it, thus affording plain evidence that satellite peoles were not getting enough to eat.

That may have been a major factor in inducing the Russians to announce they would put more effort into giving the satellites peoples a better life.

One of the unknown chapters of history is whether agents of the Eisenhower administration had a hand in encouraging East German workers to revolt against their Communist masters last June

This revolt also put the Russians on the defensive by revealing the discontent of people behind the Iron Curtain. The administration could claim initiative for this, if it had had a part in the uprising. It never said it did.

In any event, the food shipments exploited the situation to Western advantage.

Eisenhower in December truly took the initiative with a proposal that Russia and the United States talk on pooling some of their atomic materials for peaceful uses. It was a brand new idea.

The Russians were on the spot. Finally they replied with a weasel-worded reply that looked like an acceptance but was so phrased that they could stall their way out.

But, while Dulles worked tirelessly in behalf of this country's foreign affairs, this country apparently made no progress in one place considered critical as defense against Russia.

This was in France which, in spite of Dulles' proddings, still had not moved an inch closer to joining the European Defense Community. And without France there can be no EDC.

List

The Army and Air Force action at year's end raised to at least 30,350 the battle death toll in Korea.

Reduced to 3,193

At the same time, the roster of missing has been reduced to 3,193. Eventually these, too, will be declared legally dead unless information turns up to indicate otherwise.

Pay and allowances of missing servicemen end as soon as they are listed as dead, but their beneficiaries are entitled to any pay that has accumulated.

Beneficiaries also will receive lump-sum payments equivalent to six months base pay.

Families of men now declared dead will receive from the appropriate service a booklet setting forth their rights and benefits. The largest of these could be a $10,000 government life insurance policy.

May Receive Benefits

The Veterans Administration yesterday began sending out notices telling relatives of the 3,193 men of benefits that may be awaiting them.

VA said all forms needed to apply for death compensation, servicemen's indemnity or insurance benefits are being mailed to beneficiaries as rapidly as advice is received from the armed forces.

Taxes in 1954

By George Sokolsky

The cost of government to each individual, as represented by taxes, can be the determinant factor in the standard of living, the opportunity to improve the social and economic position of the family, and the nature of the society in which we live. Taxes may be used by the state for a redistribution of wealth, for limiting incomes, for shifting the centers of political power from one group to another. Taxes, then, are not only devised to provide a government with revenue to alter the nature of the society. Taxes can become a weapon of revolution.

SOKOLSKY

The most brutal tax ever devised by government is the income tax, because it gives the taxpayer no option. It imprisons him in the power of government.

If an excise is put on mink coats, we can do without mink coats, but there is no way to employ an option, to make a choice with regard to the income tax, except to cheat, to swindle, to falsify statements, to commit perjury. It is, in effect, a police tax.

Thus the racketeer, the thief and the bribe-taker have an advantage over the honest citizen.

OCCASIONALLY, an investigation or an accident will provide data on cheating, but those who are paid only by check, which is always reportable, are always at a disadvantage.

When the cheat discovers a method of converting "hot money" into honest money, he is able to use untaxed income for legitimate purposes. He thus is placed in a superior competitive position with honest citizens.

No great mind has discovered how to prevent this process from succeeding. Even when racketeers serve some time in jail, their hidden assets are generally untouched because when they come out of prison, it is evident that they are still in clover.

The method of checking income tax payments is unfair. The field investigators are not to be blamed as they are usually honest men who work at small salaries and who can only defend their integrity by bringing in their quota of delinquents.

This quota system, often employed by police forces in traffic misdemeanors, is a dishonest system because it binds the field investigator to a dishonest decision. He places his own position in peril should he fail to bring in his quota each day.

HE IS FORCED to support his side in a difference of judgment as to deductions in order to make up his quota.

The cost of defending the taxpayer's judgment is frightfully expensive, involving not only time but money. The taxayer therefore accepts a compromise as the best way out. He pays a little more. Were this all that such an activity involves, it would be bad enough because no one should be asked to pay more than the law requires. But the morals of a nation have been debased by the tendency of our people to devote themselves to deductions, hoping that they will not be caught or, if caught, that they can compromise the difference of opinion. It is a very ugly business.

The withholding tax, from this standpoont, has been an instrument of evil because it is a device to make some taxpayers less conscious of the cost of taxes to them.

It encourages strikes because the take-home pay is less than the anticipated amount and therefore disappointing. Such taxpayers, instead of blaming the politicians for depriving them of a large part of their incomes, blame the employers and demand more.

THE EMPLOYERS pay more, the prices of commodities go upward and the value of the dollar diminishes. As the value of the dollar diminishes, the economy goes out of kilter, controls have to be established, increasing numbers of bureaucrats have to be hired, and taxes go upward.

This vicious circle is what is gradually bringing upon us an economic recession which could move into a deep depression in a period of inflation.

Thus far, the Eisenhower administration has by no means met the challenge of this problem, although we are assured that the forthcoming messages of the President to Congress will propose some cures.

It will be interesting to note, when the time comes, whether the reforms will be a drastic approach to a basic problem or a palliative in an election year.

If the former, it could save our economy; if the latter, it will prolong an unfortunate process.

Feud for Thought

By Victor Riesel

President Eisenhower has plenty of fued for thought these days. Two powerful forces inside the Republican Party, through their friends inside the White House, are putting terrific pressure on him. Each of these opposing blocs feels so strongly about the policies it's urging on Ike that only the most delicate handling of this backstage bickering can prevent a public split in high Republican ranks.

RIESEL

This fight is not over foreign policy, nor over Senator Joe from Wisconsin—it's a bitter-end battle over labor policy between the Gov. Dewey-Sherman Adams bloc in the White House and the businessmen who reached into Europe for Gen. Eisenhower, got him the nomination and financed his campaign. The Dewey-Adams group wants Ike to woo labor right now and so begin competing with the AFL and CIO political leagues for the votes needed in 1954's election to retain control of Congress.

The business men want Ike to repudiate the nation's labor chiefs and reach for the votes of the 45,000,000 non-unionized workers in the land.

FURTHERMORE, the industrialists are saying the Republican Party can get many of the votes of the 16,000,000 unionized workers without appeasing the labor leaders.

At the moment Ike has merely borrowed time. Not until the end of January will you know which bloc in the GOP he has decided to heed. Here is how this feud has been developing:

Recently Ike met with his cabinet for a very brief discussion of his forthcoming State of the Union message—and what he should say about labor. Shortly thereafter, Ike met with his labor technicians, the White House Labor specialists, House Labor Committee Chairman Sam McConnell and Senate Labor Chairman Alexander Smith. Again they discussed strategy on the labor front.

THERE WERE NO conclusive long term decisions. It was decided however, that there would be no labor message from Ike to Congree prior to the State of the Union speech, which would contain only a few paragraphs on this explosive issue. After this speech is out of the way, the feud will break out all over the White House and Washington.

The Dewey-Sherman bloc, including Ike's three labor specialists, Gerald Morgan, Bernard Shanley and Sen. Taft's ex-aide Jack Martin, want the President to send a special, highly detailed message on labor to Congress at the end of January.

In this message Ike would call on Congress to make some 12 specific concessions to the union leaders and their followers. These concessions would considerably soften up the Taft-Hartley Law in an effort to win friends inside labor.

They are up for re-election next November. Hundreds of them come from districts which would resent favorable action towards labor alone. However, if they voted against the President's specific request for softer labor laws, they would be repudiating Mr. Eisenhower. So they have been forming a steady line at the offices of their majority leaders and party whips—saying, in effect, tell the President just to forget it this year.

AT THE SAME TIME: the businessmen have been asking President Eisenhower not to woo labor. Typical of this appeal to Ike is a hard-hitting (and easily the most outspoken political expression to come from any corporation) four-page "News Letter" just released by the General Electric Co. Said GE the other day:

"The Few Can Not Deliver 'Labor' Vote.

"The impression persists that the President's thus-far most influential advisers in the matter are insisting:..that the Republican Party can and must seek the so-called labor vote next fall through concessions to unions.

"...That the relatively few professional union officials are the ones who have the 63-million work force vote to deliver in return for concessions to these officials as contrasted to their members and that the concessions demanded are the weakening of T-H to give back the important dictatorial powers over workers and public which T-H took away from these union officials in response to worker and public protest against the extent and abuse of those powers . . ."

This statement then warns that Republicans can not have both labor leaders and the public and that the GOP must "publicly choose" between them.

Which is why Ike had a splitting headache this New Year's, despite his quiet holiday. For he alone must choose—and lose some of his friends no matter which way he moves.

Extension

By Laura Hobson

On a ranch near Fort Worth, Texas, a man named Luther L. Lindsay fired a bullet through his brain because his wife smokes.

HOBSON

He chose New Year's Eve to do it and his suicide note said, "I love all my folks, but Lulu Mae has had all the chances she needs to quit cigarettes — I'd rather die than see my daughter (four years old) smoking like her mother.

The note was signed "Pop," and bore a P.S. "Damn women that smoke."

This extraordinary story made me sad for the unknown Lulu Mae and her family, but it also sent me straight to my folder of mail from newspaper readers to get out a couple of letters about a recent column on "no smoking" signs in public places.

Paying its respects to the rights of people opposed to smoking on moral and medical grounds, or just out of preferences in air, the piece made no secret of the fact that I myself smoke.

ITS MAIN POINT was a plea for more consistency in the no-smoking rules of our 48 states, and asked why smoking was allowed in night clubs everywhere, but frequently forbidden in concrete and steel buildings where nothing less than an acetylene torch could ignite anything.

In due course, letters arrived which agreed, others which disagreed; They were letters in good taste and bore the names and addresses of the senders.

Two other letters also came.

These went not in to my regular folders for reader mail, but into a special one I keep, set apart by a short snappy label.

ONE HAD a Missouri postmark but no address, and was signed Sara Todd. If this space only were longer, I wouldn't deprive you of a syllable of it, but here are some sample phrases:

"To think of a woman," it said, "a mother, supposedly intelligent, who has allowed herself to become a slave to such a disgusting bait . . . What can you expect of your children? We have women here in our town in the same filthy clutch . . . Aren't you the faintest bit ashamed of the picture you gave of yourself? I am, for one."

It's a free country and a free press and anybody can write letters to any author alive, but if Missouri has any statutes prohibiting ordinary good manners, I've never heard tell of them.

And good manners, I've always thought, excludes name-calling, forbids dragging people's children into any attack on a parent, and reserves holier-than-thou phrases like "ashamed for you" for use in comic strips and soap opera.

THE SECOND letter was signed A "true blue American," and thus announced a hit-and-run correspondent. "So you object to no smoking signs?" this one began. "Maybe you'd rather be ruled by Reds and Commies? Depraved people that smoke should be jailed in prisons, where they could sniff up dope till they rot."

Letters like these prove that some people chew themselves into ulcers over matters that are strictly none of their business. Their writers must assume that countless millions of American, English, French, Swedish, Turkish, Danish or Hindustani smokers are sickening or subversive, decadent or depraved. Aren't their cigarettes legal evidence?

Though most letter-writers who breath out fire and smoke, don't go as far as putting bullets through their brains, their pen and pencil performances always amuse and often fascinate me.

My special folder for them is still skinny, but the short snappy label on it says, "Crackpot."

Texas Judge Has Easy Day, Docket Is Clear

TILDEN, Tex (AP)—At 10 a. m. yesterday Dist. Judge W. G. Gayle empaneled the grand jury, charged it, and sent it to the grand jury room. Then he swore in the petit jury for the week.

He called for the civil docket, but no cases were listed.

The grand jury foreman reported: "We know of no violation of criminal laws in McMullen County in the past six months. We therefore ask the grand jury be dismissed."

Judge Gayle dismissed the grand jury, the petit jury, complimented the county on its law-abiding citizenship and went home to Beeville.

The lady of the house called the police.

They confirmed her suspicions: he'd been drinking—and he was 9 years old.

The boy and his companions admitted they had taken two pint bottles of whisky from a drug store. Questioning disclosed four watches had been stolen from another store.

Police gave the boys a stiff lecture and released them to their parents.

Speaker Tells Lions Club of Marion Plant

Motor Products Corp. Operations Described By Factory Official

A history of the Motor Products Corporation, including the formation of the Marion Industries Division, was given by Keith Maloney, industrial relations assistant at the local plant, when he addressed the Marion Lions Club Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

The Marion plant is one of seven which produce auto accessories. Completed in 1950, the Marion plant possesses the latest in plant planning, production facilities and equipment, according to the speaker. It is completely fenced and guarded with the latest in fire fighting and sprinkling equipment and the overall floor space is 236,000 square feet.

1,200 Employes

Mr. Maloney said the average number of persons on the payroll of the plant is 1,200 and the weekly dollar payroll including salaried employes averages $100,000.

The Marion plant as an automotive components manufacturer produces automobile ventilators, including small component parts; automobile grilles, including small component parts; automobile garnish mouldings; automobile outside mouldings; automobile instrument panels; trailer sash windows and deep freeze component parts.

Processing divisions of the plant are subdivided into six groups; fabrication which includes all press operations; buffing and polishing; plating; paint; sub-assembly; final assembly.

Polished Products

Mr. Maloney added that most of the products processed are of a type whose use makes mandatory high luster and finish and at the same time are made of stainless steel which in processing is extremely susceptible to scratching and marring, creating an important handling condition.

The fabricating division, which is the heart of the manufacturing process, consists of the large presses, small presses, inner frame presses, retainer presses and trailer sash fabrication.

From the fabrication area, components of ventilator assemblies and grille assemblies which are to be plated move first to the buffing and polishing department, then on to the plating process. Those products manufactured which require painting, degreasing, or stripping move from fabrication to the glass-enclosed paint department.

Assembly Area

Final division of the plant is the assembly area which includes ventilator sub-assembly, ventilator final assembly, Dodge grille and trailer sash assembly. To these areas are routed all of the component parts completely processed and those small parts which are specified but purchased from outside vendors.

From the assembly lines and inspection the finished assemblies go directly to shipping for transmission to the customer, Mr. Maloney concluded.

The speaker was introduced by Ray Semmler, club program chairman for the day.

Guests of the club were Smith H. Witter, business manager of The Marion Star, and John Guthrie of the General Telephone Co., of Ohio.

National Guard Group At Bucyrus Inspected

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS—Annual inspection of Battery B, 174th Field Artillery of the Ohio National Guard, stationed here, was completed last night by Lt. Col. Edwards from Columbus.

The inspecting officer spent yesterday afternoon checking administrative records and last night inspected personnel and watched the unit in operation. In 1952, the battery received a grade of "excellent" while in 1948, 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1953, its rating was "satisfactory."

APPEAR IN PARADE

BUCYRUS — Two former Bucyrus High School students participated in the Tournament of Roses' six-mile long parade last Friday in Pasadena, Calif. The participants were Roxanne and Roberta Fegley, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Fegley, who formerly lived here and now are residing in South Gate. The girls are members of the South Gate Youth Band, one of 20 bands chosen from a list of 200 applicants to participate in the parade. After the parade, all bandsmen were guests at the Rose Bowl game between UCLA and Michigan State College.

Sales features of the new battery were outlined in the meeting. A. F. Busch, division manager, presided and welcomed the dealers. C. H. Bachelder, retail sales manager, conducted a discussion and gave a talk on batteries in general. He was assisted by A. D. O'Keeffe of Marion, service station supervisor, who gave a talk on service.

A Tip for Salesmen

If you find yourself just about half way through your sales presentation, and it's around noon time, why not invite your prospect to have lunch with you at the Ritz? He has to eat somewhere, and he knows that what he orders at the Ritz will be the best, whether it's a bowl of milk and crackers or an order of our famous spaghetti. Eat lightly so you can take advantage of the time he is with you to clinch that order you want. Other salesmen follow this practice, why don't you?

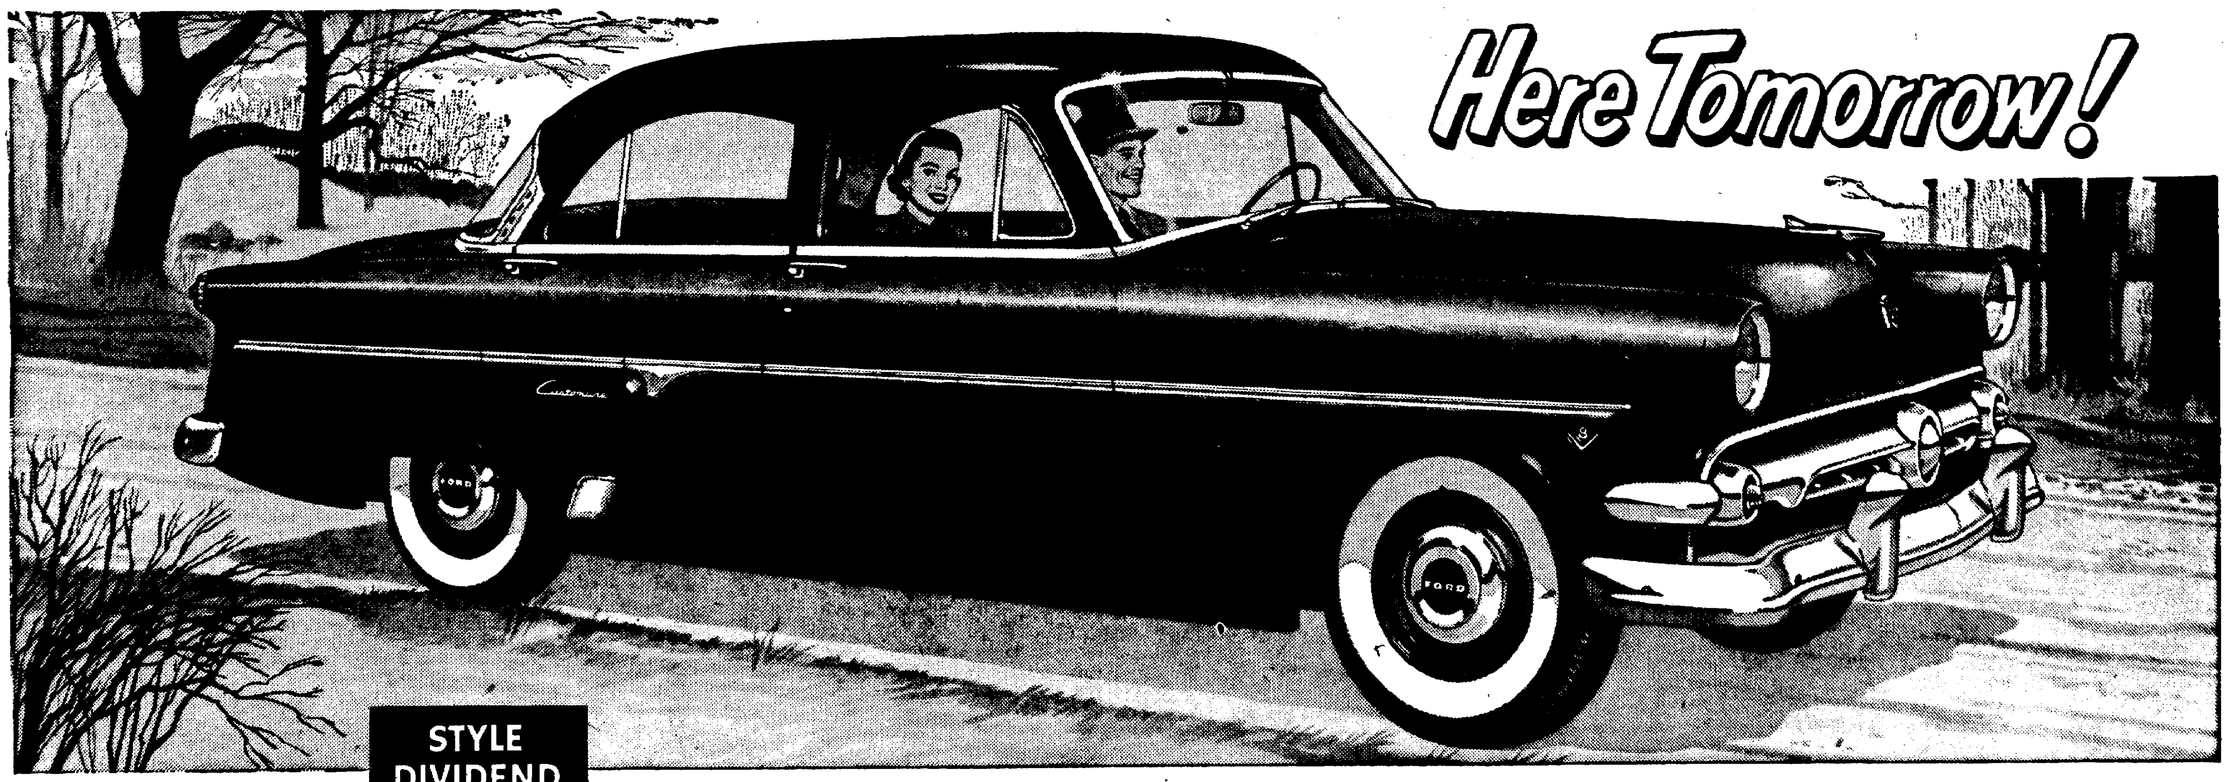
'54 FORD the "worth more" car declares a dividend



3 distinctive lines—14 brilliant body styles

YOU JUST OUGHT TO TRY the '54 Ford . . . the car that brings a whole new set of value features to the low-price field. You'll find that each new feature is an extra dividend in driving enjoyment. And each new dividend establishes Ford, even more in '54, as the "Worth More" car.

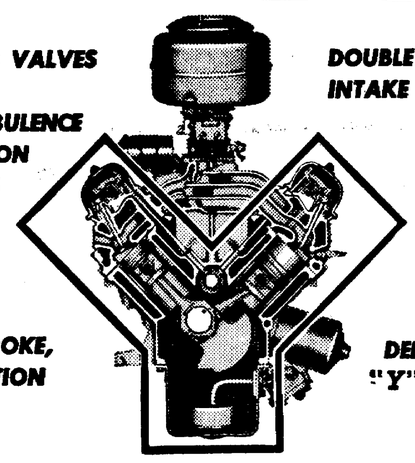
You get a special dividend in styling, for example, with Ford's distinctive new appearance . . . smooth, clean lines. You get sparkling new interiors, too, that are a dividend in themselves. New custom-selected upholstery and trim are color-harmonized with your choice of glamorous new body colors. And Ford's new Astra-Dial Control Panel is not only the most beautiful you've ever seen . . . it's designed for safety, too, with the speedometer located high on the control panel.

And each of the new Fords gives you special dividends in ride and performance . . . with new Ball-Joint Front Suspension, the greatest advance in chassis design in 20 years . . . with your choice of Ford's new low-friction Y-block V-8 or I-block Six, the most modern engines in any car today! And, as an additional dividend, Ford makes available all the power assists you might expect to find only in the costliest cars.

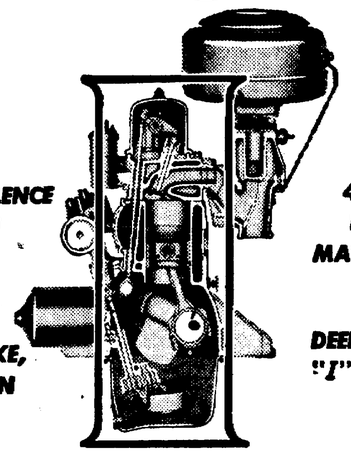
With 28 brilliant new models to choose from, you'll find the exact car to suit your tastes and requirements. Come in and see the '54 Ford. Test Drive it. Once you try it, you'll want to drive it home.

PERFORMANCE DIVIDENDS

The new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8

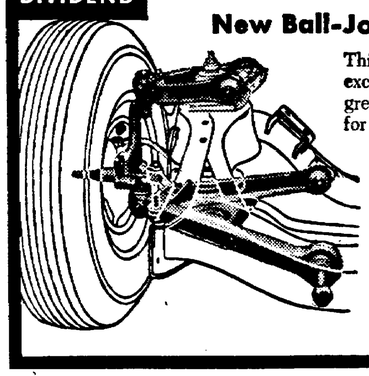


The new 115-h.p. I-block SIX



RIDE DIVIDEND

New Ball-Joint Front Suspension



This revolutionary new suspension is exclusive to Ford in its field. It allows greater up and down wheel travel for a smoother ride. And it helps keep wheels in true alignment for consistently easy handling. Movement of the wheels is on ball joints, whether in up and down motion as wheels travel over rough spots, or in steering motion as wheels turn right or left. Lubrication points are cut from sixteen to four.

The greatest engine advances since the original FORD V-8

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO Ford introduced to the low-price field a fine-quality precision-engineered V-8 engine. This basic design—soon to become famous throughout the world—quickly established a new standard of performance for low-priced cars. And now, with its 22 years' experience in building over 13,000,000 V-8's, it is only logical that Ford is first in its field to introduce a brand new type of V-8—the Y-block V-8 . . . together with the most modern Six in the industry—the new and advanced I-block Six.

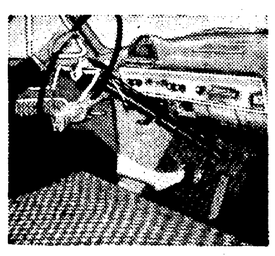
Both new 1954 Ford engines have overhead valves for most efficient high-compression operation on today's fuels. Valves are free-breathing to give you the most GO . . . free-turning to seat tightly and maintain high compression. Both engines have a deep-cast block with skirt that extends well below the crankshaft for greater strength and rigidity . . . smoother, quieter performance and extra-long engine life. Their modern short-stroke, low-friction design cuts friction losses . . . gives you more usable horsepower, more miles per gallon of gasoline. And new high-turbulence combustion chambers assure a more thorough mixing of fuel and air for faster, more efficient firing of fuel.

Plan to Test Drive a '54 Ford. You'll find these new Ford power plants stand out as the greatest engine advances since the original Ford V-8.

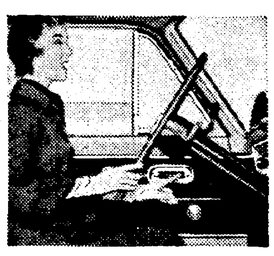
Plus five optional power assists* you might find only in America's costliest cars

DIVIDEND IN DRIVING EASE

Master-Guide Power Steering
It does up to 75% of your steering work for you, when you need it . . . makes parking a pleasure. Yet it leaves you with the normal feel of steering on the straight-away. And, in addition, it cushions out steering wheel "shock" on rough roads.

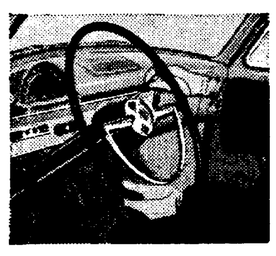


Swift Sure Power Brakes
Power does up to one-third of the work of stopping for you! You are more relaxed in the stop and go driving of congested traffic. And should the system ever lose its power, no more effort is required to make a stop than with conventional brakes.



Power-Lift Windows
Smooth, silent electric power opens or closes windows at the touch of a button. There's a master control beside driver plus an individual control under each window. You may operate any of the Power-Lift Windows safely while driving.

4-Way Power Seat
You push one of two controls and the front seat goes up or down . . . push the other and it goes front or back. It's a real convenience when different people have to drive—or when you want to change position to relieve fatigue or avoid sun glare.



Fordomatic Drive
It combines the best in "automatic" engineering to give you the most versatile automatic shifting ever. You get the smoothness of a fluid torque converter, the "go" of an automatic intermediate gear. Ford also offers gas-saving Overdrive.

News of Servicemen

Pvt. John W. White has returned to Ft. Belvoir, Va., after spending the holidays with his parents and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn White of 399 Mary St. He left Sunday for Ft. Belvoir where he will be an instructor in engineering. A graduate of Harding High School last June, he was employed at the YMCA here as an athletic instructor and at the Erie Railroad before entering the service last July 13. He took his basic training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and in October went to Ft. Belvoir where he took an engineering course. He is with Co. D there.

George L. Riedmiller, engineman second class, USN, husband of Mrs. Beth L. Riedmiller of 497 Mary St., recently was awarded a Good Conduct Medal for three years of exemplary service by the commanding officer of the escort vessel USS Currier on which he is stationed. The son of Mrs. Marie Riedmiller of Milford Center and Frederick Riedmiller of Columbus, he was graduated from Milford Center High School and was employed at the A & P in Marysville prior to entering the service in September, 1950. He took his boot training at Great Lakes, Ill., and later was stationed at Bremerton, Wash., for several months and at San Francisco, Calif., for a year before going back to Great Lakes to attend diesel school. Riedmiller was stationed at San Diego, Calif., from July to September before going on a cruise to Pearl Harbor. He is now back at San Diego where the USS Currier is docked. His wife is the former Miss Beth Martin who resides with her mother, Mrs. Blanche Martin, at the Mary St. address. Riedmiller's ship is attached to Escort Squadron 3 and is a unit of Cruiser - Destroyer Force, Pacific Fleet.

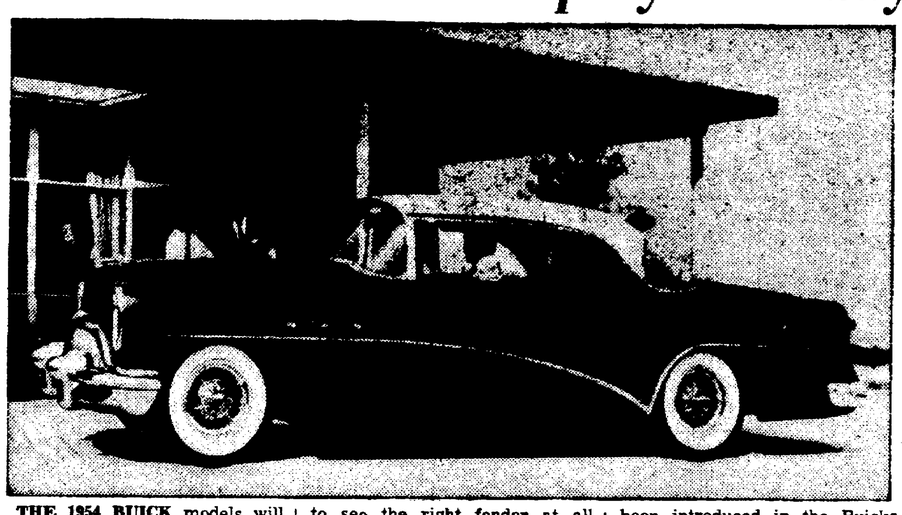
New Buicks To Be Displayed Friday



THE 1954 BUICK models will go on display Friday at the Danner Buick Co., 299 W. Center St. Included in the new line of cars is the Riviera Hardtop, shown above.

Four series are available this year. The Riviera is one of the cars in the Super series.

Highlight of the Special series is 150 horsepower engine, designed after the valve in-head V-8 models introduced in the 1953 Super and Special series.

A new line of cars, the Century series, is introduced this year. It is in the price range between the Special and the Super series. It features a 200 horsepower engine, the same as is used in the Roadmaster line.

A total of 83 styling and mechanical changes have been made in the 1954 Buicks, more than in any other previous single year.

Among the main styling alterations is a new panoramic windshield on all models, full rear wheel fender openings, and sloping door line on the two door Rivieras and convertibles, built-in sun visor and rain cove on the four-door sedans in the Roadmaster and Super series, and new high crown front fenders in all series which permit the driver to see the right fender at all times.

Chrome molding on the 1954 Buicks has been changed to conform closely with the trim on the 1953 Skylark convertible.

The new windshield eliminates the old rearward sloping front body posts. These have been relocated about six inches back of the leading edge of the front door. On the Roadmasters and Supers, the front posts are in a vertical position, while they have a forward slant in the Century and Special models.

A sports car styling has been given to the Riviera and convertibles by slanting the door-belt line and opening the fenders to give full visibility to the rear tires. Wire wheels are optional equipment on all models except the Special.

A new instrument panel has been introduced in the Buicks. Highlight of the new panel is a special speedometer. The speed is indicated by a red line which moves horizontally across a scale.

A four-way power operated front seat is optional on all models in the Roadmaster and Super series, and is standard equipment in the Skylark. Also standard in the Skylark is an electrically operated radio antenna. It is optional on all other models.

Power brakes are optional equipment on all cars with Dynaflow transmission. Power steering and Dynaflow are standard on the Roadmaster series and optional on other lines.

The Skylark model is powered with a 200 horsepower engine as are the Roadmasters and Centuries. Super models are powered by 182 horsepower motors.

Man Plans 1,000-Mile Journey on Horseback

DENVER (AP) — Ralph Hume, a 34-year-old steelworker, will start a "St. Louis or bust" journey by horseback Jan. 12 to rejoin his wife and son.

"I've been waiting since I was in the Navy during World War II to do something like this," he said.

Hume plans to make the 1,000-mile ride in less than a month, riding a frisky 7-year-old Arabian mare.

The rugged steelworker came to Denver two years ago with his wife and son, now 12. A few months ago he decided to return to St. Louis. His family drove back in the family auto.

Wyoming Man Finds Lost Cousin on TV Show

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Carl Harms, a Cheyenne, Wyo., heating and plumbing contractor, flew here yesterday and decided to telephone a cousin, Mrs. Bertha Korff, at Bristow, Okla., to inquire about another cousin, Mrs. Hennie Rinderhagen of El Reno, Okla.

"Why," she's on a television program there right now," Mrs. Korff said.

Harms ran to the hotel lobby and switched on the TV set. There was his long lost cousin being interviewed on an afternoon show. After the program, Harms telephoned Mrs. Rinderhagen at the TV station and arranged a reunion. He told reporters later, "Boy, was she surprised-"

Woman Refuses To Send Her Children to School

WALLACE, Idaho (AP)—A woman who calls herself "Jehovah's child" was found guilty yesterday of contributing to the delinquency of minors by refusing to send her four children to school. She claimed the Bible said they should be taught at home

Dist. Judge A. J. Graf scheduled sentencing for the woman, Mrs. Harry Brandt of Kingston, next Monday.

Mrs. Brandt said she is the only member of her religious sect.

Woman Sues Church, Asks Reinstatement

CINCINNATI (AP) — A woman stripped of her church membership and accused of calling her pastor a devil has sued for reinstatement—but the church doesn't want the court to interfere.

Mrs. Lennie Boggs of Covington, Ky., told common pleas court yesterday she heard Mrs. Mary Randolph, the ousted member, complaining:

"If ever there was a devil in the pulpit, there stands one."

The Rev. John Rawlings, pastor of the Baptist Church at nearby Lockland, was in the pulpit at the time.

The church took away Mrs. Randolph's membership last August. The chairman of the board of deacons said she consistently voted against trustees' proposals and stopped attending church.

Mrs. Randolph, applying for reinstatement, said the church's action resulted in anguish and loss of friends.

Judge John M. Renner asked the two parties to get together and try to settle differences. But trustees adopted a resolution attacking the principle of the court suit. It called the action a "dangerous precedent," endangering the rights and privileges granted to us by the constitution of the United States. . . ."

Greek Cross Day To Be Held at Tarpon Springs

TARPON SPRINGS, Fla. (AP)—A score of hardy youngsters will plunge into the chilly waters of Spring Bayou tomorrow to see which one can come up with a gilded wooden cross.

Whoever gets it will receive the blessing of Archbishop Michael, head of the Greek Orthodox Church in North and South America, the admiration of his fellow townspeople, and, according to tradition, good luck throughout the year.

The contest will climax the observance by members of the Greek Orthodox Church of the Feast of Ephiphany, commemorating the baptism of Christ. The celebration is popularly known as Greek Cross Day.

Although whales are mammals they have no external hind legs.

MOVIE TOUGH GUYS. When it comes to portraying bad men on the screen, Humphrey Bogart (left) and Peter Lorre are as tough as they come. Klinefelter. Guests included Mrs. Elza Bush of Edison and Mrs. David Gompf.

Although cats are still found wild in some parts of Europe, students do not believe any of the ancient European wildcats exist without at least some strain of domestic breeding.

Petrillo Halts Night Club's Floor Show In Contract Fight

BOSTON (AP)—The pretty chorus line swung onto the night club floor last night and the band stopped playing abruptly.

Who stoped the music? President James C. Petrillo of the AFL American Federation of Musicians.

Why? Because the girls in the line belong to the American Guild of Vaudeville Artists, also AFL.

Petrillo was quoted as saying AGVA broke a union agreement by working with nonunion members. He ordered his members not to play for AGVA acts.

Union spokesmen said the hassle may spread from Boston's night clubs throughout the country.

New Pleasure for Middle-Aged Needed

Any Takers for Million-Dollar Idea?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—How would you like to start the new year off with a free million-dollar idea?

Well, a fellow gave me one the other day, and after examining it from all angles, I am now passing it on to you—and you are welcome to it.

"Why doesn't somebody invent a new middle - aged pleasure?" this man demanded. "It would be worth a million dollars to him."

When I asked him what he meant, he continued:

"A great amount of effort and energy is spent thinking up gadgets to keep the young happy or soften the woes of the elderly. But nobody pays any attention to the middle-aged.

"Yet there are more middle-aged people than any other kind. Why should we have to shift for ourselves so much? Why doesn't somebody exert a little brainpower to provide us with some new form of pleasure?

"Take me, for example. I'll admit, I'm middle-aged, and I am bored. I am in that critical period when a man is too old to enjoy playing postoffice and too young to enjoy rheumatism. Why doesn't somebody dream up a new kind of pleasure that will enable us middle - aged people to forget ourselves and our problems?"

"Have you never tried bird watching?" I inquired. "The sight of our little feathered friends at work and play is often soothing to the spirit."

"Look," he said, "let's be practical. When you've seen one English sparrow, you've seen 'em all. Let the birds watch each other."

He made the same complaint about baseball, television viewing, canasta, and stamp collecting. He was weary of sports and hobbies.

"No" he said, "what I want is an absolutely new pleasure for a middle-aged guy like myself-something that doesn't come in a bottle or wrapped in cellphane, something that doesn't come with a guarantee to help me or hurt me, but something I can get some real fun out of."

"Any other qualifications?" I asked.

"Well, yes," he said. "A new pleasure for a middle-aged man ought to be simple and inexpensive. It ought to be something the children can't steal from you as they reach their teens. It ought to be something a man can enjoy without having to share it with a woman. Naturally, also it ought to be respectable, so that it won't be denounced by the clergy or make a man subject to arrest and imprisonment."

"That all?" I inquired.

"Yes, that's all," he said. "But is that too much to ask?"

Frankly, it didn't seem too much to me. After all, why shouldn't a middle-aged man be allowed a new pleasure that wouldn't bankrupt him, bring down the law on his head, or that he would have to divide with his wife and kids?

"Don't you have any suggestions?" my friend asked hopefully.

I thought and I thought. But it isn't easy to think up a fresh middle-aged pleasure that meets these restrictions. Finally I told him lamely:

"Have you thought of taking up the study of ventriloquism? That would fit the rules you laid down."

"If I do," he bristled, "I'll know where to find my first dummy."

As I say, it's a million - dollar idea. They're two hits a dozen unless you know what to do with them.

Even if I could discover a new middle-aged pleasure I doubt if I'd tell anybody. It might be better just to enjoy it in silence.

Rev. Eyster Writes Article on Festival

With attention of Methodists centered on the nation-wide Church Attendance Crusade from January to Easter, a timely article by a Marion pastor, Rev. Walter C. Eyster of Epworth Church, on "The Festival of Faith in A University Town" appears in the current issue of the denominational publication, Shepherds. This deals with a special Festival of Faith observed last year at Bowling Green, O., where Rev. Eyster was pastor before coming to Marion in June last year. It tells in particular of participation of the Methodist students at Bowling Green State University in the festival program.

The article describes the way in which church attendance was increased, by "Check It Yourself" attendance record cards, posters, and "See You in Church" postal cards sent to inactive members. A special study course on the Gospel of John, labeled a "post graduate course of the Gospels," drew a large attendance. Congregations averaged 600 for the Sundays covered in the period and more than 100 new members were received.

With his present congregation at Epworth Church here, Rev. Eyster is joining in the Church Attendance Crusade planned by the Methodist Bishops' Council and Festival of Faith which is set to continue through Easter Sunday this year.

City Firemen Answer Three Calls in Marion

A short-circuited battery cable in a Standard Oil Co. of Ohio fuel oil truck caused a fire scare on Mary St. yesterday. It was one of three alarms answered by city firemen.

Mark St. and Central station firemen were called to the truck at 11:55 a.m. yesterday when the driver, Donald Scott of 615 Mary St., smelled smoke coming from underneath the driver's cab. Firemen said the short-circuit in the battery cable burned a hole in the gasoline line to the engine. The gasoline did not ignite. There was only a very small loss, they said.

Steam coming from a building at Brown and Nye Sts. owned by W. H. Tubbs of 252 Ballentine Ave. caused a fire scare at 10:40 p.m. last night. W. Center and Central station firemen who answered the alarm said some asbestos material was being dried around a small heating stove and the resulting steam rising from the building gave the impression of smoke. There was no fire and no loss, firemen said.

Only other alarm was false. It was turned in at 9:50 p.m. from a box at Silver and Leader St. and was answered by Central and Mark St. station firemen who reported no one in sight when they arrived.

Supreme Court Ruling Backs Film Distributors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court says it's all right for movie distributors to restrict first - run films to downtown theaters if it's more profitable to do so.

By a 7-1 vote, the high tribunal held yesterday that the film industry need not license neighborhood movie houses to show new films, provided there is no conspiracy to violate anti-trust laws.

The Supreme Court justices went to the movies themselves after court had recessed for the day. They watched a private showing of a crime movie called "M" to help them decide whether a state may ban it as harmful to the public. "M" has been banned in Ohio, whose state censor said it is "filled with brutal crime."

The term "forecastle" is a survival from early fighting ships which often had castles or towers to aid in the fighting on bow and stern.

Rhodes Likely GOP Nominee For Governor

No Final Decision Yet, Bliss Says After Ohio Party Leaders Confer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Republican leaders weren't saying for sure, but it appeared today State Auditor James A. Rhodes would be their choice to run for governor against Democratic incumbent Frank J. Lausche.

State Republican Chairman Ray C. Bliss of Akron and five top office holders, including Rhodes, huddled for two hours last night and had what Bliss called "a general discussion about the governor's race."

When it was all over Rhodes said.

"I will have a statement within the week."

Bliss, however, said there was "no final decision" on a candidate for governor.

Rhodes, who says he has been endorsed by party leaders in "about 60 counties," has been mentioned often as the probable Republican choice to stop Lausche in his bid for a fifth term.

The 44-year-old three-time mayor of Columbus now in his first term as auditor has expressed willingness to run unopposed for the Republican nomination in the May 4 primary.

Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, one of the Republicans present at last night's meeting, said he, too, would make a statement this week. He and House Speaker William Saxbe of Mechanicsburg have declared their intentions to run for governor if Rhodes doesn't seek the nomination.

St. Mary Plays Host to Kenton Quintet at Coliseum

Wildcats Headed by Keel, Former Harding Assistant

George Keel returns to Marion tonight when his Kenton cagers take on St. Mary at the Coliseum.

The game will mark Keel's first visit to Marion in an official capacity since he left the Harding athletic staff this year to become head football and basketball coach at Kenton High School, his alma mater.

After six years at Harding, Keel was named the school's head court mentor last spring but left for his present duties without taking a crack at the job.

Record Even

The team Keel brings with him tonight will be trying to climb above the .500 mark. Its opposition will be a St. Mary squad that will be attempting the same feat. Kenton has a 3-3 record while the Irish go into the contest with a 4-4 slate.

The Wildcats got off to a good start this season, winning three straight over the alumni 56-55, Upper Sandusky 53-49 and Carey 64-60. But then Keel's charges hit the skids, dropping their next three to Lima South 59-53, Urbana 80-57 and Dayton Patterson 47-43.

Tonight Keel expects to start J. R. Hickle, 6-0, and Jim Hogan, 6-1, at the forwards, Fred Markley, 6-2½, at center and Merle Highland and Tom Waddle, both 5-9, in the guard slots.

However, either Virgil Deardorff or Gene Mead could break into the starting five. Deardorff has been racking up about 17 points per game to lead the Kenton scoring column. Mead at 6-5 is the squad's tallest man.

Clifford Jump and Bob Conkle are two other Kenton men who are expected to put in a lot of playing time.

Keel's quintet is reportedly a speedy outfit, using a fast-breaking offense and falling into a man-to-man for defense.

Lineup Juggled

St. Mary Coach Ray Robbins has been doing a lot of lineup juggling during the past few weeks in an attempt to find a clicking combination. He's not sure of the combo he will use tonight but said yesterday that he might start out with his "short" five.

That would put Roger Micheli, 5-10, and high-scoring Mike Anderson, 5-11, as partners in the pivot sports with Butch Merchant, 5-7, Johnny Messenger, 5-7, and Jerry Ballenger, 5-8, working on the outside. Two other possible starters are Larry Ryan, 5-10½, and Jack McNamara, 6-0.

Anderson is currently the leading St. Mary scorer with 128 points for an even 16-point average per game. Merchant ranks second with 68 markers. Then comes Micheli with 48 and Mesenger with 45.

Two preliminaries are scheduled before tonight's varsity game. In the first, starting at 6, St. Mary Junior High will take on Taft Junior High. The second prelim will match the St. Mary and Kenton jayvees.

NCAA Sessions Open; Talk on Rules Planned

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn., after a day of dilly-dallying in Executive Committee sessions, gets down to business today at its 48th annual convention.

The American Football Coaches Assn. and the NCAA Television Committee are slated for executive sessions, but no drastic recommendations for changes are expected from either.

The coaches, with 1954 rules topping their agenda, are tipped to string along with the one-platoon system, with proposals to liberalize substitutions to some extent. Some also want to do away with the four-minute rule at the end of the second and fourth periods, forcing an "all-the-way" game under the same set of rules.

In the television sector the only fight against the current restricted program appears to be coming from the Big Ten conference. It would like to have one of its games televised on a regional basis each Saturday, and the powerful circuit may lead the way toward some loosening of the restricted plan in vogue in 1953.

The Television Committee meets today and tomorrow, and will submit its recommendations to the NCAA business session Friday. The coaches will offer any rule change suggestions to the NCAA Rules Committee, which meets Jan. 11 in Sarasota, Fla.

A year ago the Rules Committee ignored a coaches' poll which favored the two-platoon system by a 9-1 margin, and installed the limited substitution plan. Lou Little of Columbia, chairman of the coaches committee on rules, said the current poll was overwhelmingly in favor of the single platoon style of play.

Minnesota, Kansas, Pennsylvania, Iowa State, Idaho and North Carolina State are hunting for new head coaches, and several of those who created those vacancies are seeking new jobs.

Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, considered the No. 1 choice for the Minnesota berth vacated by Wes Fesler, has a conference on tap tonight with Athletic Director Ike Armstrong, at which Wilkinson is expected to say yes or no.

Michigan State, where Biggie Munn is expected to move up from head coach to athletic director, is expected to offer Munn's berth to Asst. Hugh (Duff) Daugherty, but Daugherty is mum on the idea.

Bird-McGinnis Cagers Handed First Setback

GI Post knocked Bird-McGinnis out of the unbeaten class 51-44 in YMCA Basketball play Monday night while the UAW-CIO rebounded from last week's one-point loss to defeat Alloy 48-43. Green Camp Elevator copped its fourth straight by whipping McMillen Feed 48-34 in the final game.

GI Post surprised Bird-McGinnis with a blistering first quarter attack which shot it to the front after eight minutes of play with a 23-6 lead. The winners hit every shot in the book from outside and near the hoop. Bird-McGinnis regroomed in the second period to hold its own and cut the lead during the final half, outscoring the Post 16-12 in the final quarter. Harbolt and Roseberry led GI Post with 11 points each while Don Williams and Fritz Guy each had nine for the losers.

The UAW-CIO five rebounded from its loss last week to nip Alloy in a tight game. The winners took a 9-7 first period lead and never were headed. The UAW defense limited Alloy to four points in the second period while notching 10 to ice the game. Bob Rickie was the scoring leader for the winners with 19 points while Harold Garver with 22 was the leading point getter of the evening for Alloy.

Green Camp Elevator dropped McMillan Feed 48-34 in the finale. The McMillen team strengthened by the return of Merle Daum, former Harding star, battled the league champions right down to the wire but succumbed to superior height and rebounding skill. Bob Weston popped in 15 points for Green Camp with his one hand push shot from the outside to lead the winners while Dick Jones and Daum with 10 and 9 points were McMillen's sharp shooters.

GAME MOVED UP

The Sparta-Claridon basketball game originally slated for Feb. 2 will be played tonight at the Claridon gym, school officials reported today. A reserve game will open the action at 7:30.

Waldo Wins 63-45 From Green Camp

Waldo Merchants downed the Green Camp K of P lodge 63-45 in a contest played at Green Camp Monday night.

The winners jumped out front 15-12 in the first quarter and increased their margin to 26-21 at halftime. A 23-point outburst in the third frame which shoved Waldo ahead 49-37 clinched the victory and the winners kept increasing the margin during the final period.

Don Schultz led the Waldo attack by pouring in 22 points. Bill Axline added 13. For the losers, Paul Sheppard came in with 12 points and Gene Marsh hit for nine.

Green Camp is at Harpster Thursday night while Marion Power Shovel comes to Green Camp Monday.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Marion Hinklin, treasurer of Marion County, is showing the natives of Florida how it's done this week.

SHORT

A note from the Marion vacationer indicates he has recorded some catches which would make any angler turn pale with envy. The daily Tribune at Cocoa, Fla., listed 'Hink' as one of the top men in the fishing derby during the week preceding New Year's Day.

His biggest catch was a seven-pound, nine-ounce sea trout, caught while trolling in the Canaveral Canal near Cocoa. 'Hink' also reported hooking three six-pounders, five five and a half pounders, a five-pound catch and several three and four-pound trout. Each trout over six pounds wins a special field and stream award, he reported.

Despite Hinklin's success his catches were dwarfed by the work of a nine-year-old Cocoa boy. The youth, Frank William Powell, landed a 59-pound big drum while fishing with his father. His father hooked a 48-pound drum on the same trip. A 40-minute fight was required to land the biggest fish while the smaller one was brought ashore in a half hour.

Prior to leaving Marion, Hinklin had planned to take in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day classic at Miami. His note gave no indication whether or not he attended the Oklahoma - Maryland battle.

COMING HOME. Gene Fetter, former coach at St. Mary, is expected this week for a short visit with his family in Marion. Gene is a member of the coaching staff at Arizona State College at Tempe where he works with Clyde Smith.

He was planning to attend the NCAA convention this week at Cincinnati and was to take time off for a local visit. It probably will be a short visit since Gene and his wife, Phyllis, are both sold on the Arizona climate during winter months. During his last visit here Gene told friends, "The weather just can't be beat."

Rio Grande Drops Fourth; Bevo Leads With 38 Markers

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Bevo Francis and his Rio Grande College teammates were handed a 100-96 setback here last night by a fast-breaking Salem College squad.

Byron Gibson, with 31 points, was high for the winners. It marked the fifth triumph in eight games for the winners. It was Rio's fourth loss in 10 contests.

Cub Brass Counts Heavily On Trio of Youthful Stars

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Three negro rookies may solve the Chicago Cubs' biggest problem next season.

The purchase of infielders Ernie Banks and Gene Baker last September and the drafting of outfielder Luis Marquez from Toledo two months later could give the Cubs a strong second base combination and a standout centerfielder for the first time in many years.

Manager Phil Cavarretta is counting on Banks to be his regular shortstop. He thinks Baker, who played shortstop at Los Angeles last year, can make the successful switch to second. Marquez batted .292 in the American Association but rapped 13 homers, drove in 81 runs and stole 37 bases. He is a ball hawk in the outfield.

"Just how Banks and Baker will work out as a second base combination remains to be seen," said Cavarretta. "For one thing, Eddie Miksis is still in the picture. But if Banks can handle the job at short, I'll keep him there, because of his batting power. He's for a chance to be a real good hitter."

Banks, who will be 23 at the end of this month, hit .314 in 10 games for the Cubs and smashed two homers following his purchase from the Kansas City Monarchs. The 28-year-old Baker, didn't hit quite as well in a Chicago uniform last fall but he walloped 20 homers and drove in 9 runs on a .284 batting average on the coast. Chris Kitsos, .221 at Des Moines, is another candidate for shortstop. His 112 walks shows he has ability to get on base.

In all 19 rookies will report to the Cubs' spring training camp at Mesa, Ariz., next month. While none has a very impressive minor league record, Wid Matthews director of player personnel, is very optimistic about their chances.

Kenny Schultz, Vitale, Lebioda Idled by IHL

The Marion Barons will be playing without the services of Phil Vitale and Kenny Schultz Wednesday night when they meet the Fort Wayne Komets on the Coliseum ice.

The two were handed one-game suspensions yesterday by the International League office as a result of penalties handed out during a squabble against Toledo Sunday afternoon. Lou Crowdis, goal tender, was handed a $25 fine for arguing during the same game.

Ted Lebioda, another defenseman for the Barons, will be missing from the Marion lineup in each of the two remaining games with Toledo. He was banished Saturday night at Toledo when he and Bill Booth of the Mercurys hooked up in a stick swinging duel. Booth will see no further action this season against the Barons.

The penalties were called Saturday and Sunday during a two-game set between the two clubs. In all a total of 106 minutes in penalties was called.

Michigan Wins

Ebert Equals Foul Shooting Record as Buckeyes Lose

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Ohio State's 26-point final period wasn't enough to catch a revived-up Michigan team which sped to an early lead and hung on for an 85-76 Big Ten basketball victory last night.

But Paul Ebert, the Buckeyes' sharpshooting senior from Columbus, stayed in the midst of the competition for top Western Conference scoring honors.

The 6-foot, 4-inch center scored 35 points and kept his mates in contention until a speedy 20-year-old Chicago youngster took over to wrap up the game for Michigan in the closing minutes.

Jim Barron, a sophomore, kept the Wolverine attack going just when it appeared ready to fizzle. The Bucks had crept to within 1 point, 68-67 after trailing most of the way.

Then Barron dropped in a field goal and 6 fouls and set up 2 other baskets. He ended the game with 20 points.

But Ebert was the scoring star. His 13 for 13 on the free throw line tied a conference mark for successive foul shots set by Ohio State's Dick Schnittker against Indiana Feb. 6, 1950.

Robin Freeman, the Bucks' sophomore star from Cincinnati, saw his game average of about 20 points dip as he was able to connect for only 5 baskets and 3 fouls for 13 points.

Michigan took a 43-39 lead at the half and stretched it to 63-50 going into the final period to make Ohio State's first conference game of the season a losing effort.

Hoosiers, Illini Barely Escape Big Ten Losses

CHICAGO (AP)—Indiana and Illinois, two of the Big Ten's top rated basketball clubs, narrowly escaped defeat last night as underdogs Wisconsin and Northwestern bid strongly for upsets.

Indiana's Hoosiers had a 15-point lead over Wisconsin on their home court at one point but in the game's closing minutes had to resort to stalling tactics to stave off a belated Badger bid and win, 70-67.

Dependable Don Schlundt, who scored 30 points in Indiana's 62-60 victory opening the Big Ten campaign Saturday, hit for 29 against the Badgers, who were topped by Tony Stracka's 18.

Sophomore guard Bill Ridley, a substitute, scored a field goal and free throw in the waning seconds to give Illinois the points it needed for a 66-65 victory over Northwestern. Hal Grant of Northwestern missed a vital free throw as the game ended.

The Illini were paced by John Kerr, who scored 27 points.

In other games, Iowa won its Big Ten opener, beating Michigan State, also in its debut, 73-63, and Michigan surprised Ohio State, another first-time-out team, 85-76.

Dan Bucceroni Favored Over German Champion

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Philadelphia's Dan Bucceroni, a 2-1 favorite, and Germany's Hein Ten Hoff tonight box a 10-rounder which could increase the crowd hunting a try at Rocky Marciano's heavyweight title.

The bout, which will jam an expected capacity 7,156 into the Milwaukee Auditorium, will not be televised or broadcast.

If the rangy, 215-pound Ten Hoff, former European heavyweight champ, should upset Bucceroni, an offer stands ready to take Marciano to Berlin for a summer title defense against the 32-year-old Hamburg veteran.

Vic Seixas Loses Again In Australian Net Play

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Australia's unpredictable Rex Hartwig scored a smashing upset over veteran Vic Seixas of Philadelphia today in the quarterfinals of the South Australian Tennis Championships.

Hartwig won the match, 5-7, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, probable opponent of Australia's 19-year-old wonder Lewis Hoad in the finals, entered the semifinals with a 6-3, 6-3, 6-3 straight set conquest of Aussie lefthander Merwyn Rose.

Dukes Soaring In Nationwide Basketball Poll

By BEN PHLEGAR

NEW YORK (AP) — Duquesne's towering Dukes crept up on Kentucky in this week's Associated Press basketball poll but the all-winning Wildcats held on to first place by a narrow margin of 81 points.

They led by 150 points a week ago but Duquesne's sweep through 11 straight games and the Garden Holiday Festival in New York sent the Dukes' stock soaring. Duquesne and Kentucky both won again last night after the polls closed. The Wildcats have won 8, Duquesne 12.

Indiana stayed in third place and Minnesota in sixth but the rest of the positions underwent a thorough shakeup, mainly as a result of holiday tournaments.

Oklahoma A&M, winner of the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City, moved up from fifth to fourth, and Western Kentucky, seventh a week ago, jumped to fifth after winning the Louisville Invitational. Western has taken 12 straight this season.

Holy Cross broke into the top 10 in seventh place as it ran its record to 8-0 in winning the Sugar Bowl Tournament at New Orleans. The biggest advance, however, was by Duke, winner of Raleigh's Dixie Classic. The Blue Devils were unranked a week ago. This week they finished eighth in the voting by 99 sports writers and broadcasters. Ten points were awarded for a first-place vote, vote, nine for second, etc.

Oklahoma City moved up from 11th to ninth and Oregon State, beaten twice in three games in the Dixie Classic, dropped from fourth to 10th.

The results, with first place votes in parentheses:

Yanks Selected Tops for 1953; Terps Second

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees who won an unprecedented fifth straight American League pennant and followed up with their fifth consecutive World Series championships were voted the outstanding team of 1953 today in the 23rd annual Associated Press yearend poll.

As they have monopolized baseball, so have the Bronx Bombers swept top honors in the AP oll, for this is the fourth consecutive year that Casey Stengel's men have been voted "Best Team of the Year."

It was a runaway for the Yankees, who received 79 first place votes from a total of 125 ballots cast by the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

The Yankees, who defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series 4 games to 2, rolled up 89 points on a 3-2-1 basis.

The University of Maryland, unbeaten in 10 regular season football games and named 1953's No. 1 college team in the AP poll last month, edged the Cleveland Browns for second place. Maryland had 10 first place votes, while the Browns got 13, but the Terrapins had sufficient second and third place support to run up 109 points to 106 for Cleveland.

Maryland, like Cleveland, came to the end of the road as the grid season ended. The Terrapins were upset by Oklahoma 7-0 in the Orange Bowl at Miami after the Detroit Lions beat Cleveland in the playoff for the National Football League title.

This year's poll was similar to 1952 in one respect—a college football team was second to the Yankees. However, last year, with 45 first place votes, Michigan State came much closer to the Yanks, who had 65.

The unbeaten but once-tied Notre Dame football team, sixth in the 1952 poll, was fourth this time, followed by the Indiana basketball team, Big Ten and CAA champion; the Milwaukee Braves, who shifted from Boston and were in the National League pennant race, finishing second straight year; the Minneapolis Lakers, National Basketball Assn. champions; the Navy crew, unbeaten in two years of competition; and Brooklyn's National League champions.

Detroit was eighth in last year's poll, and might have finished higher this time had the title game in which the Lions upset the Cleveland Browns Dec. 27 been played earlier.

Newark Fire Claims Lives Of 2 Children

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Two young children burned to death today when a fire destroyed their home in nearby Thornport. Their father tried desperately to reach them in their second-floor room but failed.

The victims were Susan Jo Simmers, 4, and her 2-year-old brother Harold, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Simmers.

The fire of undetermined origin apparently started in the kitchen of the six-room frame house. The father, 24, had returned home from work at the Timken Roller Bearing Co. at Newark about three hours before the fire broke out.

His wife, Norma, 26, told newsmen her husband turned on their television set while she and a third child, Eugene, 6, went to sleep on a first-floor couch. She said the fire's heat awakened her about 3 a. m.

Mrs. Simmers awoke her husband. He tried to make his way up the stairway, but ran into a mass of flame. He ran outside, climbed a porch post to the roof, but found the whole second floor in flames. Friends of the young family said a neighbor also tried to reach the trapped children, but failed.

Kreber gave up command of the 37th Division, Ohio National Guard, at Camp Polk, La., Friday and Lausche said it has not been decided whether he will command the division when it is reorganized Jan. 15.

Snow, Floods Follow Storms Over Europe

Winter's First Big Onslaught Felt in Italy, Scandinavia

LONDON (AP)—Shivering western Europe, battered by three days of storms, mobilized its defenses today against new onslaughts from old man winter.

While salvage and rescue teams from Scandinavia to Italy took advantage of a momentary lull to dig out snowbound autos and trains and strengthen flood weakened dikes, the weatherman warned more trouble was on the way.

Most of the fury of the winter's first big storms blew itself out by today after playing the clown in at least two areas.

In the Ajaccio area of semi-tropical Corsica, the French island in the Mediterranean, snow fell overnight. Around Sondrio, a little town on the Italian - Swiss border which normally gets the first snowfall of the Italian winter, violets and daisies bloomed in the fields amid springlike weather while nearby roads and mountain passed were blocked by snowdrifts.

Along Germany's Baltic coast the worst floods for almost a century quietened. Damage may hit the million dollar mark.

At the height of the floods, the Kiel Harbor area was a foot under water, a refugee came in Lubeck was evacuated, electricity and telephone pylons were uprooted, and road and rail communications were cut.

The howling northeast blizzard, which churned seas over the low coastland unprotected by dikes, gave way today to a gentle breeze from the south. Flood alarm warnings were lifted.

In Italy, the country worst hit by sudden snowstorms, mountain villages were isolated and many rail lines blocked by drifts as deep as 13 feet in some places.

From the Alpine borders of Switzerland and Austria down the spine of the Italian peninsula, road and rail traffic was snarled. At the Rombo Pass, near the Austrian border, an avalanche roared, into a party of Italian skiers, killing one.

Twenty-four passengers were injured at Udine when a locomotive skidded on icy rails and slammed into a coach.

At Trieste the violent north wind blew 10 freight cars into the sea.

The Danes and Swedes buffeted by floods and blizzards estimated damage at a million dollars. Meteorologists predicted another raging snowstorm might sweep over northern and central Sweden by nightfall.

Along the flat Danish coast line, flood waters had burst through the seas defenses, of several small towns. Townsfolk were rescued from their marooned houses by boat.

Construction of a concrete block exhibition arena has been approved by the board. Fair board president Richard Shealy of near Bucyrus disclosed that a rough estimate of $27,000 on the one story building, which would be 80 by 160 feet, had been made by Wade Stevens, Galion contractor. Definite location of the building will be determined Jan. 10 when board members inspect the fairgrounds for possible sites. Members of the building committee include Paul and Fred Hildebrand, Burton Honsberger and County Agriculture Agent Russell L. Miller.

BUCYRUS — Two Galion men were injured, one seriously, in a one-car accident four miles west of Bucyrus Monday afternoon at 1:45.

Gerald Stoffer, 47, was removed from Bucyrus City Hospital last night to University Hospital in Columbus where his condition was reported critical. He was injured when the car he was driving went out of control on State Route 19 in front of the Crawford County Home.

The owner of the car, Robert Bowlby, 46, also of Galion, was a passenger in the car. He was taken to Bucyrus City Hospital where his condition was reported as fair this morning.

Both men suffered chest injuries. In addition, Bowlby received injuries of the head. State patrolmen from the Bucyrus post investigated the accident. They said the car went out of control as Stoffer was driving west.

It then went off the south side of the highway and rolled over four times.

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective strength today put the stock market higher.

Marilyn Monroe Fails To Show Up, Draws Suspension

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marilyn Monroe's studio says she has been suspended because she failed to show up for the start of her new picture.

Coincident with this announcement was a report that the shapely blonde and Joe DiMaggio, the former New York Yankee Clipper, were en route from San Francisco to Las Vegas or Reno to be married.

The next bit of rumor in Hollywood was that perhaps she was holding out, inasmuch as her present contract is about to expire and she hasn't signed a new one at 20th Century-Fox. The rumble was that La Monroe wants more money.

But finally, her agent, Jack Gordeen, blasted some of the rumors. Why no, he said, there aren't any wedding plans. He would dismiss that altogether, he said. Miss Monroe wasn't at her studio, he explained, because she didn't like the script for the picture "Pink Tights," and she won't show up for rehearsals until she can approve a new script.

The studio said she would remain under suspension until she gets back.

Paul Walter Bids For Congress Seat

CLEVELAND (AP)—Atty. Paul W. Walter, Ohio campaign manager of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, today announced his candidacy for congressman from the 23rd Congressional District.

The legislative post is held by another Republican, Rep. George H. Bender, who is seking the GOP nomination to the U.S. Senate.

The 46-year-old Walter, in making his bid for the congressional post, pointed out his friendship with Taft and Bender.

"Since 1938 I have had the privilege to serve the late Sen. Robert A. Taft in his many campaigns and to be of assistance to him in develoing his legislative programs and policies," he said.

Besides helping in Taft Senate campaigns, Walter was active in the late senator's presidential campaigns in 1940 and 1952. He also was treasurer of the campaign which put Harold H. Burton in the Senate in 1940.

Tin Magnate Goes To Courts To Halt Eloping Daughter

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—Bolivian tin magnate Antenor Patino today was granted a court order temporarily forbidding his 18-year-old daughter from going through with a runaway marriage.

Patino's dark-eyed daughter Maria Isabella and her love, 20-year-old James Goldsmith, son of a wealthy London hotelier, still were nowhere to be found as the father took this latest step to ward off the wedding. Both families think the couple are too young.

Patino earlier today hired a team of private sleuths from one of Edinburgh's leading detective agencies to press his search throughout Scotland for the young couple.

The multi-millionaire South American then obtained the court order, which means Maria Isabella and James cannot get married tomorrow as it was believed they had planned to do.

Bucyrus Resident Appointed to Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Walter Michael of Bucyrus, a leading figure in harness horse racing the past 20 years, today was appointed to the board of directors of the U.S. Trotting Assn.

He became the fourth member of the board from District 1, the state of Ohio.

Michael operates Pickwick Farm at Bucyrus.

His appointment was announced by the three other board members from the Ohio district, Joseph A. Neville of Delaware, McKinley Kirk of Washington Court House and William Murray of Wellington.

Grain Quotations

CHICAGO (AP)— Grains opened with scattered gains and losses in routine dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Wheat started ⅛ cent lower to ⅜ higher, March $2.05⅜; corn ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, March $1.55⅛-⅜, oats unchanged to ½ higher, March 78⅞-79 and soybeans ½ lower to 1 cent higher, January $3.07.

Four states — Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and California — raise virtually the entire American rice crop.

Rest Assured

...SLIP INTO A BED ALREADY WARMED
...THAT WILL STAY WARM ALL NIGHT AUTOMATICALLY

Sleep UNDER A Westinghouse
Automatic Electric Blanket

Warmth without weight... one electric blanket takes the place of two or three ordinary blankets, lets you rest better because you're not supporting a heavy pile of covers.

Decorator Colors... soft as down blanketing with matching satin-binding comes in Evening Rose, Sapphire Blue or Emerald Green.

Easier Bedmaking... Just one electric blanket and your regular top sheet is all you ever need regardless of how cold it gets. One blanket per bed instead of two or three simplifies summer storage too.

Easy to Launder... nothing to it. Wash your Westinghouse electric blanket just as you would any other fine woolen blanket.

Single or Dual Control... Buy the single control for even warmth over the entire bed, or dual controls for different degrees of warmth on each side of the bed.

Economical... like all your electric appliances it operates at low cost, uses no more electricity than a small electric bulb.

Dial the sleeping temperature you like best, turn it on a few minutes before bedtime and you'll slip between sheets that are prewarmed for you. Tensions of the day disappear as the relaxing, gentle warmth helps you drift into restful sleep. You'll never again be too cold or too hot because your Westinghouse electric blanket keeps you comfortably warm all night long regardless of room temperature changes. Sleep as millions do, electrically.
